Florida's Good Law
How Does Russia Do It?
Mr. Sinclair's Book
They Still Bootleg

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

Florida will soon vote on a matter important to her and other states, namely, on the suggestion to exempt from taxation all homesteads up to $5000 in value.

Colonel Frank B. Shutts, whose newspaper, The Miami Herald, supports the $5000 tax exemption law, passing through New York yesterday, said he believed that Florida taxpayers would approve the law.

This writer has frequently recommended such a law on the ground that fathers and mothers should not be taxed for raising a family; that they should at least have a roof over their heads and a small piece of ground that no collection could take from them.

The $5000 homestead tax exemption law will increase enormously Florida's prosperity by bringing more population, more spending power. Florida could easily support fifty millions of people and large Florida property owners who would object to the homestead exemption should realize that it would greatly increase Florida real estate values. When you have more people spending more money, land is worth more.

Five years after passing the tax exemption law, Florida would find real estate values doubled, and Florida's prosperity greatly increased, with other states imitating Florida. Schools where children are educated are tax free, churches built to save souls are tax free, as they should be.

The small homes in which the children and souls are produced and protected should be tax free also. A father and mother should be able to say to each other and to the children, "At least this roof, this house, this little piece of earth are ours and forever free from any tax collector's grip."

All the real estate advertising ever written would not be worth to Florida one-tenth as much as the simple statement, "Invest $5000 in a Florida home, and live free of taxation forever."

Florida for good reason should remember that it would also mean "Come to Florida to spend your income."

Will Rogers, stopping over in Moscow, amazed, sends this message to various Hearst newspapers: "Writers are Russia's richest people. Maxim Gorky's royalties last year were seven million rubles. I am trying to learn to write Russian."

Mr. Rogers, who does not lack business sense, might enjoy writing in Russian more than being paid in Russian rubles.

Apart from that, how do you suppose Russia manages her affairs so well that Rogers reports: "I never saw so many buildings going up in my life." Not only has Russia no unemployed, but everybody, man or woman, able to work is compelled to work. Nobody is paid by government to "go through the motions" of working, standing by the roadside pulling up one weed every five minutes, or listlessly swinging a broom where no sweeping is needed.

In Russia they don't plough any cotton under; on the contrary, they are planning, as are England and other countries, to produce more cotton than ever, in order to seize the foreign cotton trade that this country must relinquish under "regulated prices" and diminished crops.

Russia, far from drowning thousands of "little unborn pigs" with their "narrow sow" mothers, saves and raises and fattens every little pig, lavishing tender care on every pig mother.

Do you suppose those "Russian Bolsheviks" could by any chance have some plan better than our "New Era" plan? Perish the thought, but "could it be possible?"

Those who expect to vote for Upton Sinclair, nominated by the Democrats for Governor of California, will be interested in this paragraph from his book, called "I, Governor of California," in which Mr. Sinclair maps out his course, if, and when, elected governor. Announcing his intention to pardon Thomas Mooney, sentenced to life imprisonment on conviction of blowing bombs, killing men and women marching in the San Francisco preparedness parade, Upton Sinclair writes, of himself: "Immediately after having taken the oath of office (Sinclair) stepped to the micro-

ROOSEVELT KIDNAP MOB HUNTED

By International News Service

New York, Aug. 31—Although gradually accumulating evidence indicated the plot to kidnap the grandchildren of Franklin D. Roosevelt was born in a disordered mind, police and federal authorities today worked carefully to determine whether an organized underworld mob might not have been secretly involved.

Meanwhile, Benjamin Franklin Varn, 33, of Charleston, S. C., ex-navy man, was being held incommunicado while scores of detectives and Department of Justice agents checked his belongings and all angles of his past career.

The attempt to locate gangsters who might have employed Varn as a "front" for a daring and diabolical plot, was disclosed by high police officials following a statement by Varn's brother, John, in Charleston, in which he declared the prisoner might have been influenced by other ex-service men with whom he associated in New York.

Varn, charged specifically with

BOSTON TAX RATE IS SET AT $37.10

Boston's tax rate was set at $37.10 today by Mayor Mansfield.

This figure is 40 cents under his estimate made earlier this week, but it is still the highest in the city's history.

The new rate is $4.20 higher than last year.

The mayor, in announcing the new rate, issued the following statement:

"Despite my efforts to cut down the cost of municipal government, and despite a reduction in the operating expenses of the city of over one million dollars, this year it has been necessary to increase the tax rate $4.30."

"Part of this increase is due to a decrease in the valuation of $96,500,060 real estate.

"This real estate has been proportional in all parts of the city, and has been made necessary in the residential sections by the neglect in the past years to make proper reductions for the home owners."

CRASH KILLS 2 IN NANTUCKET

By Associated Press

Nantucket, Aug. 31—A young woman and a young man were killed near this island summer resort community today as their automobile overturned in the center of a broad, straight highway.

The victims, Miss Mary Gulnn, about 25, and Francis Pitman, also 25, both of the village of Siasconset, died in Nantucket Hospital a few hours after their bodies were found with the overturned car on the Nantucket-Siasconset road.

Red Leaders Cite Gains in Manchester Mills

With the textile strike called for tomorrow, the Boston Evening American in this third of a series of daily articles reveals Communism's underground war with the American Federation of Labor in New England mill centers.

Copyright, 1934, by the Boston Evening American.

How real is the danger of radical leadership gaining control of the textile strike in New England?

The answer is that in several communities it is real, indeed, and grave.

GIRL 'FLAME' URGES WAR ON POLICE AT MILL GATES

Definite forecast of strikebreaking warfare came today as textile strike headquarters at Pawtucket, R. I., warned all unions that a Boston detective agency had offered mill-owners services of a force "immediately available and prepared for any emergency."

This assertion further foreshadowed the violence already anticipated since uncovering of evidence that Communists have organized to foment disorder. In addition, a number of manufacturers have announced their determination to reopen their plants on Tuesday.

Other developments were:

1—Appearance of Anne Burlak, "Red Flame" at New Bedford, urging children to attack "police and strikebreakers."

2—Return of Horace A. Riviere of Manchester, N. H., from Washington to take complete charge of the strike in New England.

3—Reports from Georgia and other sections that workers had "beat the gun" by already walking out.

4—Union negotiations with Federal Relief heads to feed strikers and their dependants.

5—Reports that former Labor Commissioner Edwin S. Smith may be named on a proposed arbitration board.

6—Disclosure that police departments are loading up on tear gas, ammunition, etc., in preparation for war.

Hardly had the word gone around that New England manufacturers were determined on a "showdown" by re-opening mills except where the union had embraced the majority of the mills' personnel, when the charge of strikebreaking plans came today.

In a letter to all unions of the United Textile Workers in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut, Joseph A. Sylvia, New England strike director, declared:

"Our locals have been advised to conduct a militant but

WRAGG PROMISES SENSATION IN DEDHAM OUSTER FIGHT

WOMAN BACKS POLICE CHIEF IN BATTLE

Embattled Chief Henry R. Wragg was still head of the Dedham police department today despite the avowal of the Board of Selectmen to oust him.

With his counsel, Atty. James F. McGowan, Chief Wragg declared he was preparing his defense, a story that "will create another sensation."

WOMAN DEFENDS CHIEF

Chief Wragg won a week of grace from the selectmen after a private meeting last night, at which it is understood a fiery word battle was waged and the police head declared that the town fathers were acting on a basis of gossip alone.

The move to oust the chief came on the heels of the selectmen's investigation of the strychnine suicide of 32-year-old Henry B. Horn, Jr., janitor of the Dedham Savings Bank.

Mrs. Henry Uhthoff, mother of Horn's young widow, came to the police chief's defense last night, declaring that he had been a warm friend of the dead man and his wife and that it was through him that Horn had secured two jobs.

When Chief Wragg threatened to take the matter of his removal to District Court if he were dismissed without a hearing and his attorney pointed that this was his right under civil service regulations, the selectmen gave him seven days in which to prepare his defense.

Reports of "correspondence" having a direct bearing on the case were confirmed today by Chairman Herbert E. Hertig, of the board. He said:

"We knew of the existence and contents of these letters and that they were destroyed."

Chief Wragg said:

"I never knew of the existence of any correspondence affecting this case and I never heard of any. I received none, nor did I destroy any. The only writing matter I saw was the suicide note of Horn, which I took from his own hand."

PUBLIC BARRED

This was the note, which reputedly said:

"If I am a rat, this is the best way out."

Because of the "sensational nature" of the charges against Chief Wragg, the public was barred at the selectmen's meeting last night and it was announced that next week's hearing for the chief would be private for the same reasons.

Taxi's Crash Turns Back Bay Hydrant Into Gushing Geyser

Early morning risers in Falmouth street, Back Bay, were treated to a sight that surpasses in beauty the fountains of the Public Gardens. It all came about when a taxicab went out of control, jumped the curbing, hit the hydrant and left behind the perfect picture of a geyser that gushed forth in all its beauty. The taxi's dash was ended against an apartment house. Two men were hurt in the accident and later the cab's alleged driver was arrested as drunk. PARIS 'FALLS' AT AIR ATTACK

By International News Service

Paris, Aug. 31—The city of Paris fell today before an onslaught of attacking planes in the most spectacular mock battle since the war.

Umpires who studied the maneuvers agreed that the attackers scored a complete triumph, destroying all their objectives. The defenders of the city shot down an inconsequential number of attacking planes.

Theoretically, all railroad stations and lines of communication between the defending armies were bombed.

It was reported that the new pursuit type of heavy bombing planes proved their superiority over all other machines, far exceeding the performance and easily outdistancing the old type planes.

Neighbors Flee East Boston Fire

Residents in the neighborhood rushed to the street in their night clothing early today as firemen fought a fire in an unoccupied 2½ story wooden dwelling at 61 Border street, East Boston.

The blaze started on the first floor and only the quick arrival of firemen prevented it from gaining much headway. The building, police say, is owned by Louis DeVito of Winthrop.

Gen. George Dyer Dies in New York

English Stage Star Waited Hour for Dinner Date

By Universal Service

London, Aug. 31—The dramatic details of Douglas Fairbanks' hasty departure from Monte Carlo for Hollywood without saying his adieus to Lady Sylvia Ashley were revealed here by friends returning here from the Riviera.

The night of Fairbanks' departure, Lady Sylvia was patiently awaiting him in the hotel lobby in full evening dress, expecting to be taken out to dinner. She whiled away her time by tapping her shoe on the Mosaic floor and tried to excuse Doug's absence by thinking it was ingrossed in important business with Joseph Schenck and Darryl Zanuck, Hollywood movie magnates.

Minutes dragged into an hour, and presently somebody told Lady Sylvia that Fairbanks had gone to Villefranche with Schenck and Zanuck. Then she went to dinner with other people.

Even then the former English stage favorite expected that Doug would disembark at Gibraltar, but again she was disappointed.

Lady Sylvia, tight-lipped, now declines to discuss the situation. Her friends say that the latest news from California is not encouraging for the English girl.

Mother Kills Siamese Cats

By Associated Press

Gulfport, Miss., Aug. 31—Instinct of the mother cat to carry her kittens out of the house by the nape of the neck, led to the deaths of the "Siamese" feline quintuplets, which had been on exhibition at the home of C. O. Brady in Mississippi City.

As the mother cat was attempting to sneak the quintuplets out of the house, she leaped a fence and dropped her offspring. Two of the freak kittens were killed and the family applied the mercy stroke to the other three.

The kittens were joined near the middle of their stomachs.

TURNER OUT OF BENDIX RACE

Los Angeles, Aug. 31—Lee Gehlbach, Springfield, Mass., aviator, hopped off at 4:45 a. m. today for Cleveland, O., in the Bendix trophy race.

A broken gas line forced Colonel Roscoe Turner, winner of the trophy last year and holder of the west-to-east record, to withdraw from the race today.

The other entrants were away on schedule—Douglas Davis of Atlanta, Ga., at 3:20 a. m., and John Worthern of Pine Bluff, Ark., at 3:25 a. m.

Gehlbach had the largest plane in the race, a huge green speedster with a 1000-horsepower motor. Davis and Worthern have small bullet-like planes. Each is capable of making 300 miles an hour.

If the fliers, on reaching Cleveland, believe they have time to better the transcontinental record of 10 hours 5 minutes, held by Turner, they plan to continue on to New York for additional prizes totalling $10,000.

Turner said he would hop off tomorrow in an attempt to break the west to east record.

HYDRANT HIT BY TAXI; 2 HURT

Two men were injured and Falmouth street in the Back Bay was flooded by a geyser from a high pressure hydrant today, when a taxicab crashed into the fire plug.

William F. Donovan of Peterboro street, Back Bay, alleged to have been the driver of the cab, disappeared from the scene and was arrested near his home by Patrolman Robert Howard on a charge of intoxication.

While water shot up from the severed hydrant to a height of 50 feet, two bruised and lacerated passengers climbed out of the wrecked cab. They were Cecil Perkins, 26, of Warren street, Roxbury, and Robert Ford, 27, of Middleton street, Dorchester. Both received treatment at City hospital for minor injuries.

N. E. TROOPS IN 'PAPER WAR'

New England troops moved upon the New Jersey 'battlefront' in the army's war-on-paper today. Operations of the First Army Corps were expected to repulse the "black" invaders who theoretically landed forces on the New Jersey coast early this week.

Major General Fox Conner and his staff officers left today for the scene of operations. Conner was preceded yesterday by his Chief-of-Staff, Col. Frank W. Rowell, infantry, and Major Gordon deL. Carrington, operations officer.

Major General Erland F. Fish, commander of the 26th Division, Major General Morris B. Payne, leader of the 43d Division and Brigadier General Harry E. Knight of the 9th Division, will depart with their staffs for Camp Dix at New Jersey tomorrow.

WOMAN'S WILL AIDS MISSION

Missionary fathers at Uganda, Africa, are beneficiaries under the terms of the will of Elizabeth F. Sweeney, Quincy, filed in Dedham today.

To the diocesan director, Society for the Propagation of the Faith, for education of native priests in foreign missions, the deceased left $1,500.

Other beneficiaries include the Daly Industrial School, Dorchester, $1000; Working Boys' Home, Newton, $1000; Little Sisters of the Poor, Somerville, $400; Somerville Hospital, Crocker street, $100.

Rev. George P. O'Conor of St. Mary's Church, Dedham, was named executor.

NEW CHARGES AS R. I. POLICE PROBE OPENS

(By Staff Correspondent of the Boston Evening American

Providence, R. I., Aug. 31—Spurred to drastic action by an 11th hour attack on its chairman as a "crooks' lawyer," and as a "hired defender of public enemies," the legislative committee, investigating Providence police conditions, was today assembled at the State House for its first official hearing.

Principal witnesses at the hearing, the Boston Evening American learned, were to be undercover investigators from the attorney general's office.

And the testimony they were prepared to give—based on information gathered secretly for weeks past—was to concern wider phases of alleged police mismanagement than were originally the target of the probe.

NEW ANGLES OPENED

Among the new angles, which the investigation has taken, it was revealed today, are included checkups of police interests, if any, in race-track gambling, through unlawful agencies, and in operation of Providence beer parlors in what is claimed to be open violation of the liquor license statute.

The "kid-glove" stage of the legislative inquiry into police affairs was definitely at an end today.

It ended with a blistering public attack on Representative James H. Kiernan, of Providence, chairman of the probe committee.

Opponents of the investigation and of Kiernan's appointment as its chief inquisitor branded him as "counsel for dangerous and notorious crooks."

PLANS EMPHATIC REPLY

Attorney Kiernan, according to the charges openly flung at him, has "professional and pecuniary interest in the subject of police administration."

In a long list of alleged criminals, cited as clients of Kiernan, were included five names said to be those of admitted "public enemies."

Attorney Kiernan refused today to make an answer at this time to challengers of his fitness for his post as committee chairman. He said:

"There'll be an answer, though and an emphatic answer. I'll make it when the time is ripe."

Legislative associates of Representative Kiernan, however, rallied to his defense.

REDDY STRIKES BACK

Outstanding spokesman for the pro-Kiernan group was Speaker of the House William E. Reddy, He said:

"I appointed Representative Kiernan to the police investigation committee because I considered him honest and fearless and capable. I have not changed my mind.

"As a brother attorney, I feel that Mr. Kiernan has been criticised unfairly. Some of our greatest legal minds have devoted themselves to practice in the criminal courts. Loeb and Leopold were not too degenerate, too dangerous, too notorious for Clarence Darrow to defend them.

NAMED FOR ABILITY

"As I understand it, there has been no intimation that Attorney Kiernan has been guilty of unethical practice. His only 'sin,' according to his detractors, is his alleged readiness to take the side of the underdogs of society.

"It should be remembered that, were lawyers to refuse to accept clients who are accused of crime, those accused persons would have counsel appointed for them by the court.

"I can only repeat that I selected Representative Kiernan for his qualities of honesty, fearlessness, and ability. And I am convinced that my selection was well justified."

DOOMED WOMAN PINS UNSOLVED KILLING ON SLAIN MATE

One 'Slaying' Solves Another

Doomed to the gallows as the convicted slayer of her husband, Mrs. Nellie Madison, above, in her Los Angeles cell today unfolded a weird tale which, if true, will clear up a mystery slaying that has baffled the Coast's best sleuths. She accuses the husband she slew of killing Doctor Leonard Siever, Pasadena society dentist, in a quarrel over another woman. (Picture from International News Photograph Service.)

'CONFESSION' IS CITED IN CELL; PROBE OPENS

Los Angeles, Aug. 31—Blayney Matthews, special investigator for the district attorney's office, announced early today that Mrs. Nellie Madison, convicted of the murder of her husband, Eric D. Madison, and under sentence to hang, alleged that shortly before his death her husband confessed to her the murder of Dr. Leonard Siever, Pasadena society dentist.

KILLED BY BULLET

Mrs. Madison made the admission to investigators in her cell in Tehachapi prison.

Dr. Siever's body with a bullet through his heart, was found on December 12, last, near the Scottish Rite Cathedral in Pasadena. His death has remained one of California's most mystifying murders.

Although Mrs. Madison's statements were admitted by authorities to be fantastic, they said they had definitely traced Madison, who was shot to death in his Burbank apartment on March 24, last, to Pasadena on several occasions. He registered at hotels there.

Matthews said every angle of the woman's statement was being investigated.

"When you are ' my position one hasn't much to gain or lose in anything they say," Matthews reported Mrs. Madison, a crack pistol shot, said.

She declared her husband killed Dr. Siever as the result of a fight over another woman

WOMAN IMPLICATED

The investigator said Mrs. Madison implicated a Los Angeles woman in the fight leading to the dentist's death. A woman, to whom Madison gave a costly wrist watch, was supposedly one of the many women linked with the socially prominent Pasadenan's life.

This was the watch, Mrs. Madison said, which was taken from Dr. Siever's wrist when he was shot down and figured so prominently in subsequent investigations. The watch was mailed to Mrs. Francis Coen-Cooke, wealthy Pasadena divorcee, who was a central figure in the murder investigation, with a demand for $5000.

In her purported story Mrs. Madison said she first met Madison in the summer of 1933, when he was engaged to marry a Pasadena girl. The former cowgirl was manager of an inn at Palm Springs which Madison, his fiance and Dr. Siever sometimes visited.

Madison and Dr. Siever fought over the girl, the condemned woman said, and one night, while intoxicated, Madison told her he killed the dentist.

"He (Madison) swore me to secrec yand threatened to kill me if I ever said anything about it."

Throughout her trial for the shooting of her husband, Mrs. Madison insisted she did not kill him.

Kidnap Targets at Play

'SISTIE' DALL 'BUZZIE' DALL

All unmindful of the fears of a nation for their safety, 'Sistie' and 'Buzzie' Dall, victims of an alleged plot to extort $168,000 from Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, continued at play today. The extortion, kidnap plot was nipped and an ex-sailor, Benjamin Franklin Varn, was taken into custody and will be arraigned later today as a violator of the 'Lindbergh law'. KIDNAP SUSPECT 'NOT RIGHT' FROM BLOW

By International News Service

Charleston, S. C., Aug. 31—A blow on the head by an airplane propellor when he was an aviation mechanic's mate, second class, stationed at the navy air station in Pensacola, Fla., in 1921, caused Benjamin Franklin Varn, held for threatening to kidnap the Roosevelt grandchildren, to become mentally deficient, his brother, John D. Varn of Charleston, said today.

John Varn, who expressed astonishment when he heard of his brother's plight, said Benjamin had never "seemed right" since the accident.

His brother declared he believed Varn was the victim of some other ex-service men, with whom he had been associating in New York. He said he did not know the name of any of his brother's associates in New York, however.

Varn was discharged from the navy in 1922 "for physical disability received in the line of duty and through no misconduct on his part." He has been drawing a full disability pension from the Veterans' Bureau.

He had no police record and, according to his brother, who is employed in the shops of the Charleston navy yard, has never been in trouble before.

Varn was born in Branchville, S. C., and moved to Charleston in 1914. He attended the public schools here until 1920 when he entered the Great Lakes aviation school. He was graduated the same year with the rank of aviation machinist's mate, second class.

After his accident at Pensacola, he returned to Charleston, living with his brother, and attempted to complete a course at the high school here, but after several years dropped out without having been graduated.

He was described by former associates here as a timid, retiring man.

Varn was born in 1902. He has been living in New York the past two years.

Star Sets Trap for Officer

Mitzi Mayfair, whose toes used to twinkle in Ziegfeld's Follies, trapped a small-town policeman who tried to collect, she said, after letting her go on a speeding charge. On her story that he accepted a marked $10 bill, after telling her that he lost his job for not arresting the dancer, Constable Harry E. Hodges, of Laurel, Md., was held in charges of extortion. (Picture from International News Photograph Service.)

SLASH VICTIM DYING, 3 HELD

Slashed across the chest and arms in a manner that shocked even City Hospital attaches, a 30-year-old South End woman was found in Tremont street, today, at the point of death.

Two young girls were immediately arrested and charged with murderous attack. A man was held as a material witness.

The victim was first thought to be Mrs. Florence Jones, but a later identification gave her name as Anna Marjorie Cabral, of Newcomb street.

The pair arrested were Mrs. Bernice Green, 25, of Winthrop street, and Miss Minerva Wallace, 22, of Shawmut avenue, both South End. Fieley Brouse, also of Newcomb street, was detained as the witness.

BANDITS SEIZE U. S. FILM MAN

By International News Service

Harbin, Manchukuo, Aug. 31—An American film representative was kidnaped, nine Japanese and five Chinese killed and a number of others abducted when Manchukuoan bandits wrecked a train on the south Manchurian railway near here early today.

The kidnaped American is Arthur Lury, representative of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer in Manchukuo.

First reports stated J. J. Russell, Tokyo sales manager of the firm, also was abducted, but he had locked himself in his compartment and escaped the bandits who swarmed aboard the wrecked train, shooting and robbing their victims.

Norton Tax Rate Is Increased $8

Because of increased appropriations, which totaled $20,500 at the annual town meeting, the tax rate for the town of Norton will be $33.60, an $8 increase over last year, it was revealed today. The rate for North Attleboro will remain at $28.

Gang Is Linked in Threat to Roosevelt Family

violation of the "Lindbergh Law" and with attempting to extort $168,000 from the President's family under threat of kidnaping or harming the Chief Executive's three grandchildren, "Buzzie" and "Sistie" Dall, and Ruth Chandler Roosevelt, three-months-old daughter of Elliott Roosevelt, the President's second son, and his second wife, the former Ruth Googins, was held over for arraignment later today.

Charged with violation of the "Lindbergh law" section of the United States criminal code, Varn, was held over for arraignment before United States Commissioner G. W. Cotter later in the day.

He was taken to the office of Alan G. Straight, executive officer of the eastern division of the United States secret service, for a thorough questioning. There, it was decided to hold him for arraignment before the commissioner sometime this afternoon.

Secret Service operatives, postal inspectors and New York police swung quietly into a searching investigation that ended in the arrest last night. Even the President's family did not know of the man hunt.

The officers swooped down on the Sloane House, branch of the Y. M. C. A. at 356 W. 34th street, late yesterday and arrested Varn.

The Sloane House telephone number, mentioned in the threatening letter, was their only clue at first, federal authorities said.

They said little more. The secrecy shrouding their movements since receipt of the letter continued even after Varn's arrest. He is being held incommunicado in a cell at police headquarters. However, it was learned that—

The letter warned that "Sistie" and "Buzzie" Dall, would be abducted and harmed unless the extortion demands were met.

Also, the letter threatened that the "baby" of Elliott Roosevelt, would likewise be injured or kidnaped.

SOUGHT $168,000

If Mrs. Roosevelt failed to "string along" and meet the writer's demands, the President would be molested, the letter allegedly threatened.

The letter, which specified that the $168,000 be furnished in denominations of $1, $5, $10, $20, $50 and $100 was signed "by order of Zangara."

Giuseppe Zangara was the man who tried to shoot the then President-elect on February 15, 1933. The bullets intended for Roosevelt took the life of Mayor Anton Cermak of Chicago.

The letter to the President's wife advised her to wait for further instructions from the "gang" by telephone, as to the time and place for payment.

Dall Says Children Always Are Guarded

By International News Service

Bay Shore, N. Y., Aug. 31—Curtis B. Dall, former husband of Ana Roosevelt Dall and father of "Sistie" and "Buzzie" Dall, declared early today that he knew nothing about the alleged threat to kidnap his two children.

The children are at present with Dall and his mother, Mrs. Charles A. Dall, here. Under the terms of the divorce decree the parents share the custody of the children, each having them at regular intervals.

TWO ARE HURT IN BUS CRASH

Two women were injured and seven other persons shaken up today when a sedan, pursued by a policeman, crashed into a Hartford-Boston bus on the Worcester Turnpike, near Langley road, Newton Center.

Achilles Mosca, 26, of Frankfort street, East Boston, alleged operator of the sedan, was arrested on a charge of drunken driving.

Mrs. Mary Powers, 29, of Mt. Pleasant street, Roxbury, who police said was riding with Mosca, is in a serious condition in Newton Hospital. She suffered a fractured skull.

Mrs. E. Louise Onley, of 16 Howland street, Cambridge, a passenger in the bus, was taken to Peter Bent Brigham Hospital suffering from injuries, the nature of which was not immediately determined.

Other bus passengers were severely shaken.

Tunney Plays Samaritan

Winsted, Ct., Aug. 31—Two Plainfield, N. J., boys have a story to tell their playmates when they return home. It's about Gene Tunney, the Good Samaritan.

The setting is St. John's Island, off the Maine coast, where the former heavyweight champion is vacationing. The boys rowed to the island to obtain his signature. A storm broke, too severe for the boys' boat to weather.

But Tunney relieved them of their worries about how to return to the mainland by placing his power boat at their disposal.

OIL-HEATING

SYSTEM FOR THE HOME

Converts your coal-fired boiler, warm-air furnace, steam or hot water system into an efficient, oil-burning furnace! Thoroughly dependable heat!

The Quiet May is not simply an oil burner, but a complete, modern, efficient heating system that gives quick heat throughout the house and cuts fuel costs to a new low. Now—while this special, substantial reduction is in effect—is an ideal time to have your installation made . . . and be prepared for a winter free from heating troubles. While the Quiet May was designed primarily for the needs of the average residence, there are installations in many prominent buildings . . . the Vatican at Rome; the ancestral Roosevelt estate, Hyde Park, N. Y.; Christ Church College, Oxford, England; the palace of His Imperial Highness, the Emperor of Japan—and others.

EXCLUSIVE FEATURES:

THE GEROTOR PUMP, the heart of this oil burner, has been put in operation tests through one billion revolutions with no detectable wear. There are no gaskets, no washers, no packing—no danger of leak troubles!

THE JEWELED ATOMIZER—Blue sapphires, used in the bearings of finest precision instruments, are used in the Quiet May atomizer to form a channel through which oil passes. No metal has the wear-resisting qualities of a sapphire.

QUIET MAY THERMALATOR—Increases the capacity of your boiler and supplies heat quicker. It is really a small boiler that starts heat up through your house while the big boiler gets up steam, thus effecting savings up to 30% on fuel.

U. S. BOARD READY FOR STRIKE ACTION

BAY STATE MEN LIKELY TO BE ARBITERS

Washington, Aug. 31—Although the National Labor Relations Board announced that it would hold itself in readiness for last minute moves to forestall the textile walkout, it was reported here today that the task of actually settling the strike would be shifted to a special board.

This board, it is said, will be composed of three independent members to be named by Secretary of Labor Perkins and NRA Administrator Johnson.

Two Massachusetts men were among those whose names were being advanced today as possible members of the arbitration board.

One was Edwin S. Smith, a member of the labor relations board. The other was Charles E. Wyzanski, Jr., department of labor solicitor.

WYZANSKI SUGGESTED

Smith is the former Massachusetts commissioner of labor and industries.

Solicitor Wyzanski, of Brookline, is a brilliant young graduate of Harvard law school, who was given his appointment by Secretary of Labor Perkins immediately after she took office last year.

The arbitration board is expected to be named and to begin functioning immediately so that it can take advantage of the three-day interval between the effective time of the strike call, Saturday midnight, and the scheduled mill working time Tuesday morning.

Meanwhile, strike leaders were having difficulty in enforcing their order to stay at work until the deadline hour.

Workers in several centers "jumped the gun." Sporadic walkouts occurred in scattered points.

Possibilities of trouble were seen in the decision of many Southern mills to operate on Labor Day. On that day, a final drive to whip the enthusiasm of mill workers to fever pitch will be made at mass meetings in every city and town where the union has membership.

Veterans of many a textile war, Horace A. Riviere of Manchester, N. H., and John Peel of Greenville, S. C., directing strike activities in New England and the South, respectively, brought reports that the workers were organized and "raring to go."

NEW ENGLAND READY

"There's no doubt of the response in New England," Riviere declared.

Peel said:

"This strike will show whether the South is organized or not."

At Atlanta, Ga., leaders of the American Federation of Labor from two states met to decide how the federation could best assist the Southern Textile workers in the coming strike.

Strike Chairman Francis T. Gorman, in a speech here, again warned his members to "beware of Communistic intrigue and influence."

Regional leaders here for the meeting with Garrison, returned to the field. Regional headquarters have been established at Providence, R. I., Greenville, S. C., Cohoes, N. Y., and Philadelphia.

UNIONS PLEDGE AID

Gorman said today a strike in silk and other textile divisions would be called unless demands, similar to those served upon cotton manufacturers, were met.

Meanwhile, messages poured into strike headquarters from other unions, pledging "moral and financial support."

Studies Strike

SECRETARY PERKINS

HOPKINS BARS U. S. RELIEF

By Universal Service

New York, Aug. 31—The federal government will not "underwrite" the cotton textile strike, Harry L. Hopkins, relief administrator, declared here. Hopkins stopped here en route from Washington to Hyde Park, to confer with President Roosevelt.

Expressing confidence the strike will increase the number on relief rolls only "negligibly," Hopkins said:

"They'll find out damn soon that we're not going to underwrite the strike. If there's any indication of this illusion, we'll clamp the lid down."

However, said Hopkins, striking workers, many of whom will walk out against their will, but in accordance with union vote, need have no fear their legitimate needs will not be met.

SYMPATHY SILK STRIKE IS SEEN

Washington, Aug. 31—A "sympathy" strike by the 300,000 workers in the silk, wool and rayon industry was forecast by Francis J. Gorman, chairman of the United Textile Workers' strike committee.

Chairman Gorman asserted:

"A strike in these industries is inevitable unless employers comply with the same conditions laid down for cotton."

Gorman did not specify the wool and worsted groups directly, but explained that he and the executive council of the union had already held conferences with the silk workers' representatives.

Then telegrams were sent to Peter van Horn, chairman of the silk textile code authority, Arthur Besse, chairman of the wool textile authority, and members of the industry, explaining the textile union's position.

He explained that while code authorities had been addressed, the strike committee did not wish to deal with them as such, preferring, as in cotton, to deal with the manufacturers themselves.

phone and said: 'As Governor of California my first action is to sign a pardon to Thomas J. Mooney. At this time I offer to him my profound apologies for the injustice the State of California has done to him for the past eighteen years.' "

That is exactly what Mr. Sinclair, if elected governor, should do and may, if the State of California has done Mooney injustice for the past eighteen years. It, however, Mr. Sinclair is not absolutely sure that the five California governors preceding him were wrong in refusing to pardon Mooney, he should act with deliberation. To condemn "justice" too lightly would be unwise, even in this new era.

It is understood that government enforcement by the United States Treasury will no longer spend half its time to keep half its men busy fighting small moonshiners, operating only within a few miles of their ten or fifteen gallon stills. It will devote its energies to "big bootleggers" operating all over the country.

It seems to have caught one of the "big ones" far from the southern moonshine regions. On a farm near Millwood, Long Island, a still was found with a capacity of 10,000 gallons a day. Undisturbed, such a still would be profitable. Whiskey, tax free, costs the maker fifteen to twenty cents a gallon. A bootlegger can sell it, even with a deep "cut" for "protection" at $5 a gallon.

It will be hard to kill an industry so exceptionally perfected, but the Treasury means to do it. If the law punished the buyer of illegal whiskey, as well as the seller, that might help.

This Saturday 500,000 textile workers will go out on strike, according to Mr. Gorman, chairman of the strike committee, and unions expect the government to "feed and finance" the strikers in accordance with the government promise to "let no man starve."

That might be a long strike, calling for a good deal of public money.

If only the government would pay these bills with freshly printed money, instead of insisting on issuing fiat, inflated government bonds that bear interest and double the cost. A government bond on yellow paper isn't worth one-millionth of a cent more than an ordinary greenback, since gold is no more.

SOUTH UNION IS SET FOR FIGHT

By Associated Press

Charlotte, N. C., Aug. 31—Southern textile forces arranged their battle lines today in preparation for what leaders of the United Textile Workers Union said would be a fight to the finish with manufacturers.

Three major groups within the industry and one on the outside found themselves vitally affected by the plans for starting the general strike tomorrow night, and none save the union leaders would predict the outcome.

At Macon, Ga., the Payne Mill, where company officials were threatened by textile strikers as they left the plant, resumed operations today with a depleted force which reported for work after walking through a tense crowd of strikers.

Approximately 75 workers went back to their jobs this morning, although some of them were escorted by deputies armed with pistols eand blackjacks. There was no disturbance, but the strikers jeered the workers and they replied.

Macon sheriff's deputies early today rescued two automobile loads of company officials at the Payne Mill from strikers who threatened them with clubs and who tossed the cars about dangerously before the deputies could quel the disturbance.

Six persons, three women, had been arrested today in the disturbances at the Macon mill. All were released on bond.

WHOSE JOB . . .
Father's or Mother's?

"WHY," asked the Bachelor Uncle, "do fathers leave to mothers the job of moulding their boys during the years when a man's influence would mean so much?"

He seemed to feel that he knew the answer, and continued: "Now, take my brother, for example. His oldest boy is in college, the next in prep school, and during the summer the younger ones go off to camp. Whose job is it to see that they are equipped, to keep in touch with them, to give them comfort or advice when they need it? You've guessed it — mother's. Even though two of them are now almost men. Why should that be? He may say that he's pretty busy; but I haven't noticed that mother is exactly idle."

"Evidently you feel that, in his place, you'd do differently?"

"Here's what I think I'd do when one of them started for college, school or camp. I think I'd say: 'Boy, we're going to miss you. It's going to be a little lonesome here, evenings. If you could manage to send an occasional letter or telephone call, the same would be gratefully received. We're still interested in every little thing that concerns you—your studies, your sports, your teachers, your food, your chums, your reactions to life as you meet it.

"How about at least one letter a week to your mother, and one or two telephone calls to me here at home? I don't like to write letters in long hand, and if I dictated replies on the letterhead of the Complex Architectural and Engineering Corporation they'd sound—well, dictated. And I don't want to call you up, because I might do so at an inopportune moment.

"But why can't you call us up? You know our number. Just tell the operator to reverse the charge. Never mind if there's nothing in particular to talk about. It will be worth the cost just to hear your voice.

"And then I think I'd add something like this: 'Maybe I can still help you in your studies, although I'm pretty rusty. I don't want to do your thinking for you, but I wouldn't mind helping you do it if you find yourself confused or baffled. Your instructor may ask you for a thesis on the N. R. A. or the textile code and you may not have at hand trade association reports or trade publications such as come to my desk. I'd be glad, and a little bit flattered, if you asked me to help you.'"

"What about girls doing likewise?"

"Girls? Oh, girls will talk to their mothers, anyway. I want the boy to talk to his dad."

orderly strike. This un-American outfit of strike breakers will be held responsible for any disorder or violence."

Strike Leader Sylvia made public what he said was the text of a letter written to a number of mill owners in the Rhode Island district.

It was on what purported to be the letter head of a Boston detective agency and read as follows:

"—— Mfg. Co.,

"Dear sirs:

"In view of the threatened strike in certain textile mills, this agency is thoroughly prepared to assist mill owners to cope with any conditions that may arise.

"We have a large force of experienced textile workers, guards and special operatives available on immediate notice either for pre-strike or after-strike service.

"A representative will be sent without obligation to furnish additional details and particulars.

"Sincerely yours,

"—— Detective Service,

"—— street, Boston, Mass."

Lewis Charges State Police Are Ready

Close on the heels of charges by union leaders that private detective agencies were planning strike reap a harvest by furnishing strike breakers, came the accusation that Brigadier-General Daniel Needham, commissioner of public safety, stands ready to use the state police for the same purpose.

It was made by Alfred Baker Lewis, Socialist candidate for Governor.

Baker said that the troopers are gathering information on which to act if Governor Ely calls them out.

He protested bitterly that the force was organized with every assurance that it would not be used in the larger cities of the state—especially in case of strikes.

Riviere Due Today to Head Actual Strike

Full control of the strike organization in New England was to be taken over here in Fawtucket today by Horace A. Riviere of Manchester, N. H., a vice-president of the United Textile Workers of America.

Riviere's usual district is that of Northern New England, including Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont and a part of Massachusetts.

Sylvia's is Southern New England, including Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut.

Sylvia announced today, however, that he is handing over the reins of of authority to Vice-President Riviere, due here from Washington where he has been in conference with the national strike committee.

After a final executive conference here with Temporary Strike Director Sylvia, 16 field workers and organizers of the United Textile Workers of America left Fawtucket today to take charge of strike activities in their respective districts throughout New England.

Food Ready for Workers If Lockout Is Long

They took with them detailed orders to be passed along to state strike committees and to leaders of locals in various towns and cities.

Among the strategic policies discussed at length at the headquarters conference were those concerned with the sheltering and provisioning of needy strikers and their families should there be a long-continued deadlock with manufacturers.

Strike Director Sylvia received reports from all sections of New England as to attitudes of public welfare departments toward the extending of aid to families of workers who join in the walkout.

It was not denied today that many of these reports were unfavorable.

Strike leaders expressed entire confidence, however, in the ability of their organization and its A. F. of L. affiliates to assume responsibility for all needy within the strikers' ranks.

Chief business of today, from the strike headquarters point of view, was the laying of a thorough groundwork for tomorrow's big executive meeting of delegates from state and local strike committees.

20,000 in Labor Day Parade at Providence

Tomorrow's meeting will be held here. There will be another, Sunday, at Dayville, Ct.

At these gatherings, strike organizers announced today, final strike campaign plans will be made.

Details will be worked out for "dramatizing" strike issues and for making as emphatic and conspicuous as possible the refusal of strikers to go to their looms at the scheduled time for the mills to reopen Tuesday morning.

Mass meetings of striking workers will be held, it is planned, in principal textile communities Tuesday.

Biggest demonstration in the meantime will be Providence's Labor Day prade. There will be 20,000 marchers, recruited from union labor ranks, it is anticipated.

Strike Director Sylvia declared today that mill owners are "talking propaganda" when they talk of lack of union organization in their textile plants. Sylvia said:

Ready to Battle Any Move by Communists

"When the union workers go out, the non-union workers will go with them. We have sounded sentiment in principal communities very carefully. This strike will be almost 100 per cent effective all over the New England district. And it will be carried through to a finish.

"Every effort will be made by strike organizers to keep our ranks free of undesirable radicals. Much of the general talk of 'Reds' is circulated in an effort to confuse real issues and to discredit honest, orderly union members."

The appearance of Ann Burlak, notorious "Red Flame" of many a previous strike in New England came last night at a meeting of 1500 textile workers in Hazelwood Park, New Bedford.

In an impassioned plea to her audience, the "Flame" urged them to get their children into the picket lines when the walkout is effective. She cried out:

"Have them throw tomatoes at the police if they try to interfere with the picket lines. Throw them at scabs who don't walk out."

Police claim that she has been active during the past week in Lawrence and Lowell and had also been engaged more quietly in other textile centers.

Red Organizers Linked in New Strike Move

The "Flame," as well as other known Communists, were under close scrutiny by both state and municipal police today and authorities declared that they had received further evidence of the "Red" plans to capitalize on the coming strike.

Last minute instructions from New York headquarters have ordered Communist here to picket the offices of the textile firms in the financial district, it was said.

A further report was that three organizers from Communist headquarters had been dispatched to Boston to stir up trouble in this state, and to use their influence with fellow Communists who belong to the union to get into open and violent demonstrations.

The Boston police attitude in the matter was made known in a statement by Superintendent Martin H. King. He said:

"Police are prepared for any trouble and are keeping close watch on radical headquarters.

"Deputy superintendents will be instructed tonight to prepare emergency details and the radical squad will continue furnishing information of the activities of the known radical.

It was reported, but could not be definitely confirmed here, that large supplies of tear gas bombs and ammunition had been added to the police arsenal.

However, it is known that departments in other cities have renewed their supplies in anticipation of disorders, and from Cleveland, O., a dispatch came telling of a large firm there shipping huge quantities of tear gas, not only to police, but to "organization" preparing to combat the strike.

Mill Owners to Keep Factories Open

Manufacturers who do not care to discuss officially their plans when the walkout becomes effective, nevertheless said that they do not expect a complete shutdown of the mills.

Their declarations were based on several promises, one of which was that the union claims of the number of persons to go out, set at 150,000 for New England, is nearly half a million for the country, was all wrong.

Further, manufacturers representatives said, mills will be kept open in all but communities where the U. T. W. membership comprises the majority of the workers. They said that they had evidence that many workers whom the union officials believe will join the strike, do not intend to walk out at all.

The management of the Naumkeag Steam Company, which operates the Pequot Mills in Salem and the Danvers Bleachery in Peabody, indicated it would continue operations.

This, however, was contingent on the Independent Sheeting Workers' Union refusing to join Loomfixers' Local No. 30 in endorsing the strike.

The loomfixers, affiliated with the United Textile Workers, comprising 91 Pequot workers, have endorsed the strike, union officials said, and would heed the strike call.

Officials of the Sheeting Workers' Union, which is not affiliated with the U. T. W., and which comprises most of the 2450 employes of the two plants, have not yet endorsed the strike but action would be taken, they said, within 24 hours after the strike is called.

V. Foster Smith, agent of both plants, said that if members of the independent union report for work Tuesday the management would open both plants, regardless of what action the loomfixers take.

"No Filling in for Strikers," Says Agent

Wilfred Levesque, business agent of the independent workers, stated that members of his union would not under any conditions act as substitute workers for the loomfixers.

The Independent Union is composed of employes who withdrew from the U. T. W. after an 11 weeks' strike a year ago.

Employes of the Pequot Mills have been working in two shifts of 40 hours a week each.

The Manchester, N. H., textile council later announced that plans for the strike would be drawn up at a conference today of the local textile council and members of the executive boards of the four local unions.

Labor officials said that not until after the meeting, which will be held under the supervision of Organizer Horace Brouillette, would plans be divulged.

If permission was granted by the city parks and playgrounds commission, a giant mass meeting was to be held Monday at Victory Park, at which time the workers' side of the controversy would be aired.

Amoskeag Ready to Shut Down in Walkout

Mill officials said that the Amoskeag plant would not open Tuesday if the strike was declared. The officials refused to make any other comment.

Manchester will be hard hit if the Amoskeag shutdown is forced, and so will the firm itself.

Approximately 11,000 persons work at the Amoskeag Mills, and their weekly payroll is $120,000 or more, a very respectable sum to Manchester businessmen. The immediate effect of the strike would be to cut off that amount in purchases.

The last time the Amoskeag workers walked out, the city was dealt such a blow in the local spending power that it suffered for some time even after the strike was over.

In Concord, N. H., State Labor Commissioner John S. B. Davie said a total of 22,700 workers in all would be affected by the strike. Nashua had 3100 employes, nearly all employed full time to add to the Manchester total.

Attaches at the state relief administration office indicated strikers would be given relief, as they might require it.

Mrs. Abby L. Wilder, relief director, was in Washington conferring with federal relief administration authorities on the matter and the attaches said definite decision on the matter of relief to the strikers would not be made until she returned.

'THEY CANNOT BURN ME!' SAYS 'LITTLE EVA'

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

Cooperstown, N. Y., Aug. 31—"Little Eva" Coo—a "good-time girl," forsaken by her friends as she faces peril of the electric chair for money murder—smiled out of her disillusion today and boasted she would never burn. She said:

"I never hurt anybody. I ain't afraid of anything but God—and he won't punish me because I never harmed a soul."

"INNOCENT," SHE SAYS

Blonde hair curled tight around her head, blue eyes glinting with excitement, Eva paced her long cell in the women's section of the little red brick Otsego county jail. She continued, talking faster:

"I'm innocent all right. A lot of folks may think I am not, but the jury will believe me.

"That's why I ain't worried."

For a moment she was silent, then she lifted her head quickly and her voice was argumentative. She said:

"Look at Martha Clift. If Don Grant can let Martha off with a second degree plea for what she done I guess the jury will acquit me."

MARTHA FORGIVEN

She walked up and down in the narrow room, turned, and halted, her mouth pressing into a thin apologetic smile. She said:

"Don't think I'm mad at Martha for what she done to me. I don't know as I blame her although I wouldn't have done it to her. But I aint mad a anybody."

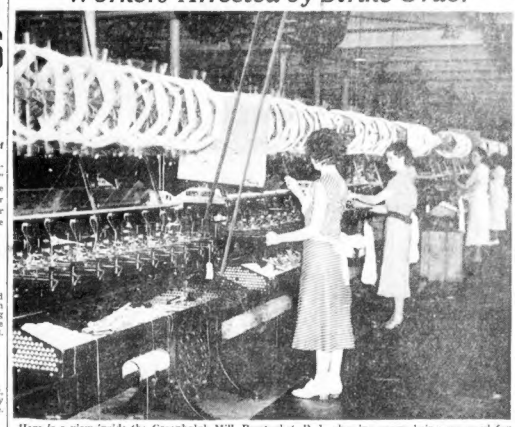
But in spite of her generous words there was bitterness in her tone as she spoke of the friends who in a strange swap of justice bartered her life against their own freedom.

MARTHA AIDS STATE

It was Martha Clift, herself under indictment of first degree murder for the mallet-and-auto killing of Harry Wright on Crumpton mountain, who took the stand to put the blame for the slain handy man's death squarely on "Little Eva."

Martha testified that the blonde roadhouse queen, after heavily insuring Wright in her own behalf, took him to the top of the mountain, battered his head with an iron-weighted mallet and pushed him in front of the automobile Martha was driving.

Workers Affected by Strike Order



Here is a view inside the Greenhalgh Mill, Pawtucket, R. I., showing rayon being prepared for the looms. This is but one of the 1150 to 3300 mills scattered from Maine to Alabama that will be closed tight by the general strike of the textile industry that is scheduled to be called tomorrow. The strike will cost workers over $1,000,000 a day in wages.

Above is a view of the cloth inspection department of the Greenhalgh Mill at Pawtucket, R. I., where rayon and cotton is inspected and classified for shipping. This is one of the mills that will be closed down tight if the union officials go through with their plans for calling a general strike in the textile industry.

80-Cent Jump in Lynn's Tax Rate

Lynn's 1934 tax rate will be eighty cents more than last year and stands as $34.20, the assessors announced today.

The board explained that there had been a $725,193 decrease in property valuations, a $1,718,731.37 decrease in revenue, that $200,000 had been expended for ERA equipment and supplies

Auction Crowd Routed by Fire

Quicker than you can say: "Going! Going! Gone!" Approximately 100 men and women at an auction stampeded from the Beacon Dye House, 10-20 Freeport street, Dorchester, today, when a small fire was discovered in the basement.

One Dies, 2 Hurt as Scaffold Falls

Gardner, Aug. 31—Peter Beaudet, 65, of 75 Regan street, was instantly killed today, and his son and another man, were seriously injured, when a staging collapsed at the State Colony. They fell 20 feet.

Paul Beaudet, 23, son, has a broken right leg and possible internal injuries. Felix Jasinski, 56, sustained a broken left arm and possible fracture of the spine.

Pawtucket Row Nears Crisis

By Associated Press

Pawtucket, R. I., Aug. 31—Pawtucket city officials awaited today service of a notice to appear before the State Board of Purification of Waters, in Providence, Oct. 4 to show cause why the city should not be found guilty of violating an order of the board, to build and operate a sewage disposal plant.

The dispute between the state board and Pawtucket has extended over five years. The board announced yesterday it would hold no more conferences with Pawtucket officials.

SEA CALM; HUNT FOR FLIER OFF

The sea off the fourth Cliff at Scituate was a flat calm today, but there was no search in progress for the body of Lieutenant Maurice J. Connell, army reserve flier, killed there in a plane crash Tuesday.

Not a single boat moved near the spot where the Jamaica Plain postal clerk and aviator died in the fog in the wreck of his plane, while flying from the army camp at Marston's Mills to Boston.

HELP! they won't get off the trains!

The conductor is perturbed—but the passengers are unmoved—They like the new air-conditioned trains between Boston-Portland-Bangor and intermediate points. 'ILLNESS AGAIN DELAYS TRIAL OF 'EVA'

Cooperstown, N. Y. Aug. 31—While Eva Coo read a book of "confessions" in her cell, Bailey Riley H. Heath again developed fever and her trial for murder met new delays.

A further postponement of the trial, interrupted after 10 days was ordered when a recurring attack of influenza sent the judge back to bed yesterday.

It was revealed that relatives of Mrs. Coo, about whom she had persistently kept silent, lived at Haliburton, a Canadian town not far from Toronto.

A letter was received from Mrs. William A. Baker of Haliburton. She said she had read in Toronto papers of the trial.

Mrs. Coo, she wrote:

"Is my sister and we haven't heard from her for 14 years. Her mother is living with me and is taking this very hard. Please give us all the information you can."

STEEL PLANTS CUT WAGES

By Universal Service

New York, Aug. 30—Salary reductions of 10 per cent through the elimination of work on Saturdays was announced here for all salaried employes of the United States Steel Corporation, effective Sept. 1. Other steel companies announced a similar slash in salaries and working hours.

The U. S. Steel reduction affects about 20,000 "white collar" workers, putting them on a five-day week.

Since the wage reduction affects about 200,000 "white collar" workers, putting them on a five-day week.

Jones & Laughlin Corporation and Republic Steel Corporation fell in line.

The U. S. Steel Corporation explained the action in the following statement:

"In view of the present basis of operations, Saturday work is irregular and unsatisfactory. The corporation has therefore recommended to its subsidiaries that effective Sept. 1, and at least until marked improvement in operations takes place, Saturday work for its salaried employes be eliminated and salaries adjusted accordingly.

"This will involve a decrease of practically 10 per cent to all salaried classes affected."

STATES BATTLE ELM DISEASE

A conference will be held in the State House by representatives from the six New England states, New York and the federal government to discuss places to combat the spread of the Dutch elm disease.

Governor Ely and the chief executives of the other states, at the request of the Massachusetts Forests and Parks Association, appointed representatives to formulate plans to prevent the spread of the disease.

Several years ago the disease appeared in Europe and did a great deal of damage to the elms in several of the countries there.

Three years ago it appeared in the United States and already has become destructive to the elm of Connecticut, particularly in the towns of Greenwich, Norwalk and Darien. It is also prevalent in Maryland and New York. So far the blight has not appeared in Massachusetts.

DOLLAR IS GAINING

By Associated Press

London, Aug. 31—The United States dollar crossed the $5 mark against the pound today to 4.89½, its best rate since President Roosevelt's February devaluation of the dollar in terms of gold.

The advance was registered in the first half hour of trading but the dollar later weakened to 5.00¼ to the pound. It opened at 5.00⅝ against an unofficial overnight rate of 8.02¼.

Gold set another record, the price of bar gold rising to 140 shillings, 11½ pence ($33.26) a fine ounce, 8¼ pence above yesterday's figure.

beyond doubt that the many units of the national Communist organization have been carrying out specific assignments since last March in a concentrated drive to undermine the American Federation of Labor.

The real purpose of the work of many of these organizations was well disguised but in every case the goal was the arousing of the Communist spirit in the ranks of A. F. of L. organizations, and in the ranks of unorganized workers.

Throughout the mill cities, since last March, Communism has been gnawing towards the vitals of conservatively organized labor in the hope and expectation of what has just now come to pass; that is, the calling of a general strike in the textile mills, backbone of New England industry.

For when workers step out on strike, Communism steps in, to magnify issues and foment disturbance and capitalize on its own carefully laid underground foundation work.

The strike set for tomorrow is called by the United Textile Workers, conservative affiliate of the A. F. of L. The Communist party, which is aligned with the National Textile Workers Union, is poised to pounce in an effort to wrest control.

"Initiate and relentlessly follow up every kind of struggle."

That is one order of the Control Plan for the New England district of the Communists, disclosed in secret communications.

The Communist war with the American Federation of Labor was outlined shortly before April 1 in a communication addressed at that time to New England Communist leaders:

UTW Gains Cited in Manchester District

"During the struggles of the past year the A. F. L. suffered a number of defeats in New England as a result of the deep impression left by its treachery in past struggles. (Ed. note: All labor strikes and controversies, demonstrations and disturbances are defined in communistic communications as struggles.)

"In the textile industry the U. T. W. (United Textile Workers) lost its model local, Salem, and similarly the Pawtucket local has now split and formed an independent union.

"However, the U. T. W. was able to capture the Amoskeag mill in Manchester and has made definite gains in minor places . . . It (American Federation of Labor) still dominates New Bedford and remains an ever-present menace in Lawrence and elsewhere.

"The task of developing opposition work in the A. F. L. has been neglected . . . The task of opposition work within the A. F. L. is now more important than ever . . . and must be taken up in a serious and systematic manner, developing the campaign for the unemployment insurance bill and the struggle against the continued sell-outs by the A. F. L. leadership . . ."

The above is only a brief excerpt from an eight-page communique addressed to the New England leaders. Then the New England Communist Control Plan, immediately formulated, was put into effect.

And the manner in which the Communists arrayed themselves in opposition to the American Federation of Labor is apparent in this plan, which specified the Amoskeag mill in Manchester as a local point for concentration.

Battle Plan Carried to Gates of Mills

Following the outlining of the six major points upon which the Communist units were to concentrate for their work in the textile field (Ed. Note: See yesterday's article) the Control Plan went on to direct:

"The party to issue leaflets to the mills raising the political issue, raising the municipal issues in the city councils and in particular initiating an anti-fascist campaign to counteract the danger of the growth of the fascist sympathies among the Italian workers. All those activities to be accompanied by constant recruiting for the union and the party.

"A class of a broad, popular character to be commenced as soon as practical.

"To initiate the struggle for the demands in the code worked out by the rank and file group and to broaden and develop strike struggles against the arbitration award. To broaden the recruiting for the rank and file group.

"The policy of concentration must likewise be carried through by mass organization. The International Defense, the International Workers Order and the language clubs must throw the weight of their work into the textile and shoe industries and concentration points.

"In particular in Lawrence must be begun the establishment of a branch using the deportation issue, using the Hassan Ali case to secure a base among the Syrian workers, using the Sacco-Vanzetti Day, August 20th, in particular among the Italian workers . . .

Call for Branch of Order in Lawrence

"The International Workers Order must likewise make efforts to establish a branch in Lawrence mobilizing for the social insurance campaign, for the support of the textile union and against fascism.

"The John Reed Club to give help in developing and supporting the children's chorus, in arranging entertainments and affairs and in securing the support of writers, artists and intellectuals. Similar tasks in a lesser degree shall apply to subordinate concentration points.

"Sections and units shall arrange occasional discussion for their membership on the events in Lawrence and shall work out ways and means of helping Lawrence materially through contributions of literature, etc.

"In a similar way, with the help of the district, each section shall select its concentration point and lay out a plan of work calculated to carry through the tasks required by the Open Letter (Ed. Note: A communique addressed by the national Communist conference to the New England district.

"Each unit shall likewise, with the help of the district and section, after a thorough discussion of the Open Letter, select its main point of work and its concrete tasks, for example:

"Section 4. The building of the textile union in Providence and Pawtucket, centering on a mill.

"Section 5. Amoskeag Mill in Manchester, unemployed work in Claremont, and the development of the struggles of the farmers."

(Further disclosures of the Communist Control Plan for New England will appear in tomorrow's article.

452,000 Mill Workers in 1281 Mills

Millions of persons in the country, in various usinesses, will be affected b, the textile strike, either directly or indirectly, but here is the United Textile Workers' estimate of the situation as it affects its own industry.

These figures are questioned, in many instances rejected by the manufacturers and only the strike itself can prove which contention is right.

The union declares that 425,000 textile workers will be involved, although all may not walk out. The total swells to 1,250,000 when dependants of the workers are added to this claim. Mills affected are set at 1281. The average per capita weekly wage is estimated at $10.86.

Headquarters are:

Washington, in charge of Francis J. Gorman;

New England, Pawtucket, R. I., in charge of Horace A. Riviere;

New York, Cohoes, in charge of Joseph R. White;

Pennsylvania and New Jersey, Philadelphia, in charge of William F. Kelly;

South, Greenville, S. C., in charge of John Peel.

The number of cotton textile workers by states: Alabama 25,000, Arkansas 600, Connecticut 10,000, Georgia 55,000, Illinois, 1200, Indiana 700, Kentucky 1200, Maryland 1900.

Textile Strike Brewing Here for 12 Years

The impending textile strike, involving 600,000 workers, the first general walkout in the industry's history, has been brewing for 12 years, union leaders declared today.

The man and woman at the cotton loom in New England and the South have perennially been the most downtrodden workers in American industry, they charged.

The first chronicled textile strike was in Pawtucket, in 1805, when workers asked for a 10-hour day. The cause was lost. Lost, too, were dozens of strikes in the following few decades to establish the 10-hour day.

Gradually, strike by strike, the day was shortened and wages were increased. State laws also aided in the reduction of hours. In 1909, the average weekly hours of mill workers ranged between 48 and 50 but in many cases operatives work even longer.

When the cotton textile code was completed a year ago, the first accomplishment of the NRA, it was hailed as a salvation by these workers.

It gave them a 40-hour maximum week. It established a minimum wage of $12 in the South and $13 in other localities at a time when $5 and $6 weekly wages were prevalent. It gave the workers the right to bargain collectively.

But conditions in the industry did not long remain serene. The first complaint from the workers was directed at the "stretch-out" system. They charged "chiseling" mill owners were compelling them to handle 40 and 80 machines each as against 20 before the code.

Faced with huge surpluses, many of the mills curtailed production, throwing 200,000 workers into the ranks of the unemployed. The United Textile Workers, believing the code gave them a splendid opportunity to extend their organization, met with rebuffs from the mill owners.

The union complained to the code authority and the NRA, but got no satisfaction. Finally, about a month ago, strike talk broke out.

The employers, with the weight of an NRA survey behind them, declared they could not improve labor conditions until business picked up. They said they were stretching their means to the limit in abiding by the code. They refused to talk terms with the union.

This resistance to union recognition took final form when the Cotton Textile Institute on Wednesday rejected an invitation from the national labor relations board to confer with union heads.

PARTY SPLIT AS SINCLAIR GOES TO CAPITAL

By Associated Press

San Francisco, Aug. 31—As Upton sped east today for an interview with President Roosevelt, the expected rift in the Democratic party over the former Socialist's nomination for governor broke open.

As he boarded a train in Pasadena early today Sinclair exressed confidence he would win the California governorship in November and hoped he would return with the indirect support of the President. He said:

"I don't expect the President to come out directly to support me or any other state candidate."

SINCLAIR CONFIDENT

"But I feel my election is certain and am going to see if I can get federal aid for my epic (end poverty in California) plan if elected."

In San Francisco Justus S. Wardell, one of the leading party figures in the state and third on the Democratic ballot which Sinclair won in Tuesday's primary, said he would support either Acting Governor Frank Merriam, Conservative Republican nominee, or Raymond L. Haight, Progressive and Commonwealth party candidate.

CREEL SILENT

George Creel, war-time director of propaganda, who also was swamped by Sinclair's total of more than 407,000 has given no indication of what stand he would take in November.

But one of his chief supporters, John B. Elliott of Los Angeles, vice-chairman of the State Democratic committee, declared party lines "mow mean nothing."

Just 70 Years on Same Job

Frank Pierce, who sold shoes to Ralph Waldo Emerson, will begin his seventieth year in business today when the clock in the belfry of the First Parish Meeting House at Concord strikes noon.

Pierce, who will be 85 October 12, also sold shoes to Nathaniel Hawthorne, famous New England poet, and Louisa May Alcott of "Little Women" fame. Also his customers were Frank D. Sanborn, "the Sage of Concord," and Professor Harris, who was head of the Concord school of philosophy.

Concord's dean of active business men left school at 15 and went in the shoe business with his father August 31, 1885.

PORT OF BOSTON

On her first visit to Boston from overseas this season, the Hamburg-American liner St. Louis, from Bremen, Hamburg, Boulogne and Galway, will arrive at Commonwealth Pier, Sunday morning at 9 o'clock instead of Saturday night as was first scheduled. On board for Boston are 20 cabin passengers, 41 tourists and 36 third class.

Among the returning tourists are John Cousens, president of Tufts College, and Mrs. Cousens; Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hoar, of Beacon street; Miss N. Holliday, Back Bay; Mrs. Mabey McCormack, Brookline; Mrs. Thomas R. Hunnewell and William P. Hunnewell, Boston; Mrs. Susan Sears, Beacon street, and Dr. and Mrs. Richard E. Morner, Fitchburg.

The Leyland Line steamer Cranian, formerly in the service between Liverpool and Boston, has been sold to the Greek Line and renamed Tanesis. She will leave Izmir, Turkey, Sept. 12 for the first trip of a new service between Mediterranean ports and New York. The vessel was built at Glasgow 20 years ago and registers 3042 tons gross.

Entrants Shoulder Arms for Baby Contest

VIRGINIA A. CARR

HARRY STUART

Contestants, look to your laurels! Here are two more entrants in the American Legion Contest. These prospective baby champions are Virginia A. Carr, of Brockton, and Harry Stuart, of Dorchester. Thousands of youngsters are competing in the contest of the James E. Welch Post, 156, to pick the typical Legion baby. Photographs, of cabinet size, should be sent to the Post at 23 Phillips street, and not to the Boston Evening American.

Baby Parade Lengthens for Legion Contest

The baby parade is lengthening and lengthening.

This parade is made up of pictures and entries in the American Legion Baby Contest, and the line of march is growing to tremendous proportions.

Under auspices of James E. Welch Post, No. 56, American Legion, the contest is held to pick the typical American Legion baby from the bevy of little mites whose photographs will be submitted before the end of the contest. The only requirement is that the parents or guardian be registered voters in Massachusetts.

Entries in the contest must be made by means of the baby's photograph. Any picture sent in must be of regular cabinet size.

Snapshots cannot be used, and responsibility for them cannot be accepted.

Ten prizes will be awarded in this contest. To the boy or girl scoring the highest number of points will be awarded a silver loving cup.

For second prize, $25 in the form of a saving account, will be awarded to the boy or girl scoring the next highest number of points.

Third prize will be $15, fourth prize will be a shopping check in the amount of $10, which will be accepted in the babies' department of a leading department store, fifth prize will be $5 in cash and a pair of shoes, and there will be five "surprise prizes."

In today's editions of the Boston Evening American will be found printed an entry blank to be used in entering a baby in the contest.

Clip out this coupon blank, fill it in and mail it, with the photograph, to Bob Watts, American Legion Baby Contest, James E. Welch Post, 23 Phillips street, Boston, Mass.

MISS LOUISE SLOCUM wore the traditional bridal satin of ivory shade clouded with tulle cascading from a cap of rare lace which is an heirloom of her grandmother's when she walked down the aisle of romance today in the garden of her parents' home in Jamaica Plain . . . to meet Mr. Charles Cortez Abbott in the holy bonds of matrimony.

MISS CYNTHIA POTTER READ

Miss Slocum is a popular member of the Junior League and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Slocum. Mr. Abbott is the son of Professor and Mrs. William Cortez Abbott of Cambridge.

The Reverend Abbott Peterson, of the First Parish Church of Brookline, performed the ceremony, after which an informal reception was held in the gardens.

Miss Mary Eleanor Abbott, sister of the bridegroom, was the bride's only attendant, frocked in bluish-green taffeta with ruffled hemline and carrying a bouquet of Johanna roses, blue delphinium and baby's breath. The bride's bouquet was of white orchids, lilies of the valley and white roses.

It was a small wedding for the families and intimate friends. Mr. Charles C. Goodrich of Hartford, Ct., was best man for Mr. Abbott.

Miss Slocum attended Miss Winsor's School and Vassar and Radcliffe colleges . . . she was presented during the season of 1926.

Mr. Abbott prepared at Brown and Nichols, was graduated from Harvard with the class of 1928 and belongs to the Fox Club and Signet Society. The young couple will reside in Cambridge.

Dickinson-Read Ceremony

MISS CYNTHIA POTTER READ, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Kempton Read of New Bedford, will have Miss Elizabeth Pillsbury of New York and West Chop as her maid of honor when she is married on September 4 to Mr. Howard Cocks Dickinson New York. Her two sisters, Misses Betsy Read and Nancy Read, will be her bridesmaids.

Cornelius W. Wickersham, Jr., of Cedarhurst, L. I., will be Mr. Dickinson's best man and on the usher staff will be Mr. John W. de Milhau of Old Brookville, L. I., Charles G. Meyer, Jr., of Bayside, L. I., James L. Madden of Newton, Frederick J. Bertolet of Reading, Pa., Harper Woodward of Rochester, N. Y., and Warren K. Read, Jr., of New Bedford.

The Reverend John M. Groton will officiate at the three o'clock ceremony in St. Aiden's Chapel at South Dartmouth, which will be followed by a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Read.

Miss Read is a member of the Boston Junior League and attended the Ethel Walker School in Connecticut.

Mr. Dickinson was graduated from Harvard with the class of 1932 and from the Harvard Engineering School with the class of 1934. His clubs include the Hasty Pudding, the Iriquois and the Tennis and Racquet of New York. He is the son of Mrs. Howard C. Dickinson of Park avenue, New York.

The bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. James Sclev, and his aunt, Mrs. Charles Cornfeldt, are journeying over from New York for the marriage.

After their wedding trip the young couple will make their home in Schenectady, N. Y.

Debutantes to Be Honored at Dance

MISS ARDELLE MOSELEY, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick R. Moseley of Farm road, Dover, and Miss Faith Barney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Dellinger Barney of Marlborough street and Dublin, N. H., will share honors at a dance at the Chilton Club on October 1. They are debutantes of this season.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Palmer are giving a dance at All Oaks, their Manchester home, on September 28, for their debutante daughter, Miss Winifred Palmer, and Miss Marie L. Stevenson, debutante daughter of Mrs. Henry Lee of Beverly Farms. Miss Palmer was one of the manikins at the fashion show for the Charlotte Cushman Club, held at Seiler's Barclay at West Falmouth on Tuesday. Mrs. Palmer is giving a large luncheon in honor of her daughter the latter part of September at her home on the North Shore.

The Apprentice Theater is giving their first public performance this evening in the Congregational Parish House in Ipswich . . . they are presenting "You Never Can Tell," by George Bernard Shaw. You never can tell about new theater groups. We would like to see one succeed and grow into something interesting and entertaining. Edith Parker of Vincent Club fame is one of the sponsors. She is very comic. The society patronage, which most of these small theatrical ventures boast, doesn't mean a hoot to their ultimate success. We hear that the Group Theater has gone commercial and are lined up with the Theater Guild. We are loathe to say "We told you so . . ." but that is what we are thinking. We want to see the theater a paying proposition once more and do not care how it is done, but we honestly do not think little theater groups are the answer.

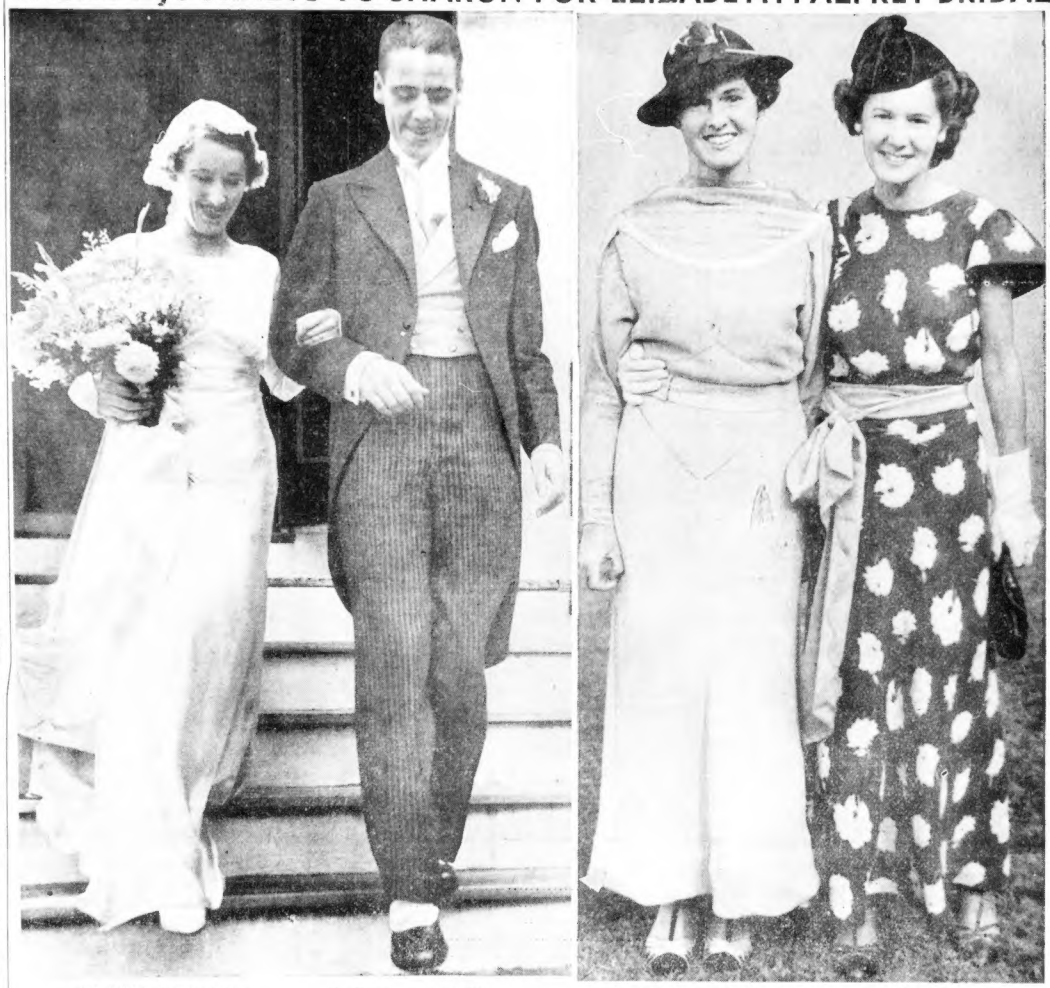
SOCIETY JOURNEYS TO SHARON FOR ELIZABETH PALFREY BRIDAL



MRS. HAROLD W. FULLERTON — DR. HAROLD W. FULLERTON — MISS SARAH PALFREY — MISS POLLY PALFREY

THE SHARON SUMMER ESTATE of the John Gorham Palfreys of Brookline, held the social spotlight yesterday as society gathered there to congratulate Dr. and Mrs. Harold Williams Fullerton, at the reception which followed their marriage in the little Unitarian Church in that town. The bride was Miss Elizabeth Palfrey, one of the famous sister stars of society tennis circles. A soft ivory satin gown was worn by the bride, who is shown, above, with the bridegroom, at the wedding reception. Two sisters of the bride, Miss Sarah Palfrey and Miss Polly Palfrey, were in the family group at the reception. (Pictures by Boston Evening American Staff Photographer.)

Rummage Sale for Hospital

The Children's Hospital will once more benefit from the rummage sale which has become an annual institution in Marblehead. Summer colonists and year-round residents are joining to work for this event which takes place in the Odd Fellow's Hall on Tuesday, September 11. The large committee is headed by Mrs. Robert C. Terry with Mrs. Richard Searle and Miss Constance Learned serving as vice-chairmen.

Mrs. B. Davis Crowninshield, Mrs. Ralph Williams, Mrs. John Yerxa, Miss Jane Bogardus, Mrs. Harold Hodgkinson, and Miss Mary Ives have formed a group to gather bundles from anyone who notifies them of their contribution.

Mrs. B. Devereux Barker, Jr., will serve as head milliner, Mrs. Ranson Hodges will preside over the infants and children's clothing, Miss Anne Upton is scheduled to organize the bric-a-brac and furniture array and Mrs. Mason Whiting has consented to take charge of the books. Miss Margaret Emerson will display the women's clothing and the shoe department and men's clothing booth will be under the supervision of Mrs. Edward Rudd and Miss Polly Watson.

Among the saleswomen will be Mrs. Edward Hutchins, Miss Elizabeth McBeath, Miss Rosamond Emerson, Mrs. Benjamin A. G. Thorndike, Mrs. Carleton Parker, Miss Leonora Kimball, Mrs. Paul D. Rust, Mrs. John B. Howard and Mrs. Lawrence Black.

HEARST STOCK TO PAY 17TH DIVIDEND

By Universal Service

San Francisco, Aug. 31—Launching its fifth year of unbroken dividend payments since the initial public offerings of preferred shares, the board of directors of Hearst Consolidated Publications, Inc., has voted the 17th consecutive quarterly disbursement of 43¾ cents per share on the class "A" 7 per cent stock.

This dividend, which covers the third quarter of 1934 and at the annual rate of $1.75 per share, will be paid September 15 to stockholders of record on the books of the company as of September 1.

1933 DIVIDENDS EARNED

Hearst Consolidated Publications, Inc., has already earned during the first six months of 1934 dividends in excess of the full requirements for the entire year on the two million shares of class "A" 7 per cent preferred stock.

The ten metropolitan newspapers in the Hearst consolidated group have shown a substantial increase in advertising and circulation volume in the first half of the year. These gains show a definite upward trend in business in the newspaper industry that is being reflected, likewise in earnings.

ADVERTISING GAINS

During the six months ended June 30, last, the Hearst Consolidated newspapers reported total advertising aggregating 47,899,705 lines in comparison with 39,692,908 lines for the corresponding period in 1933.

This increase amounted to 8,206,797 lines, or 20.68 per cent greater than a year ago.

Circulation, both daily and Sunday, has also made commensurate gains.

RALPH POWERS FREED BY WIFE

Reno, Aug. 31—Mrs. Bernice Taylor Powers of Fairfield County, Conn., was divorced from Ralph Averill Powers, Boston and Brookline, Mass., socialite, without coming to Reno.

A Nevada residence was established by her husband, and Mrs. Powers, charging extreme cruelty, filed the suit on the basis of that residence through her Reno attorneys. She obtained the decree after a deposition in suport of her cruelty charges had been read to Judge B. F. Curler. Powers appeared to testify only as to his Nevada residence.

They married November 3, 1915, in New Orleans and have three children.

Ely Asked to Aid Milk Price Boost

Westfield, Aug. 31—The aid of Governor Joseph B. Ely in raising the resale price of milk was sought by a delegation of milk producers who called on the governor here.

Wendell P. Davis, a director of the New England Milk Producers' Association headed the delegation. Governor Ely was asked to assist in an effort to raise the price from 10 and 11 cents to 11 and 12 cents.

Jokester Picks New Victim

New Bedford, Aug. 31—The soft-voiced feminine jokester, who has kept this city guessing for the last month by her mysterious phone calls, has started work on a new victim.

Mrs. Marion Martin, of Crapo street, answered her doorbell to find an unordered funeral carriage waiting there. She was so shocked by the unexpected visit that she required medical attention.

But, Mrs. Anna Davis, of Oaklawn street, who has had a steady stream of uncalled-for doctors, ambulances, taxis, fire-engines, and embalmers at her home, still holds the record as the most hoaxed victim.

COBBLER DEATH GUN MISSING

Augusta, Me., Aug. 31—Mysterious circumstances surrounding the death of Fred Handy, 74-year-old Readfield cobbler, caused Medical Examiner Dr. Roland L. McKay to announce he would withhold his findings until he had placed the case before County Attorney H. C. Marden for investigation.

Although notes indicating that Handy intended to commit suicide lay near the body, no gun was found, Dr. McKay said. Wounds in the head of the dead man indicated that he had been killed by a shotgun placed in his mouth, the charge passing through the skull and lodging in the ceiling.

The notes, dated August 28, were apparently in Handy's writing. He had been dead 48 hours when the body was discovered by a six-year-old girl.

A bankbook showing deposits of nearly $500 was found in the house along with $44 in cash.

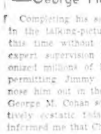
Lights and Shadows

By —George Holland—

Completing his second spasm in the talking-picture business, this time without the sort of expert supervision that amazed millions of his fans by permitting Jimmy Durante to nose him out on the billboards, George M. Cohan sounded positively ecstatic today when he informed me that Charlie Washburn, his press agent, was hoarding the Knickerbocker Limited for Boston.

George M. has been directing a film version of his play "Gambling" at a Long Island studio.



He gets up at 6:30 in the morning, reports at the studio at 8, and gets home some 12 hours later. This is turning out to be the toughest job Yankee Doodle kid, but he thrives on work, whatever the reason.

But it is our privilege to doubt that George will be happy in the picture business. As we were saying, there was a note of high excitement in his voice when he told about his Boswell, Mr. Washburn, leaving for Boston with his grip already packed.

Mr. Washburn is traveling Down East to herald the arrival of George M. in person, in the Theater Guild play "Ah, Wilderness," which follows "Spring Freahet" to the Plymouth Theater.

Early yesterday, or about the time the second editions of the afternoon papers arrived at Long Island, Mr. Cohan read in the headlines that his beloved friend, Charlie Dillingham, was nearing death at the Hotel Astor. He walked off the lot where his picture is being filmed and drove at once to the hotel where, a few years ago, he and Mr. Dillingham were the most famous permanent residents. The trip was in vain. Admittance to the Dillingham bedside was denied George M., Irving Berlin, Dudley Field Malone and other sorrowing personages who clustered anxiously about the information desk. Dillingham and Cohan, both New Englanders, became greats in show business. Their mutual admiration was so intense that George M. made a prototype of Dillingham the real hero of his play "The Song and Dance Man," and Dillingham shifted his allegiance from the Yankees to the Giants because George M. was a National League fan.

New York is excited about young Betsy Davis, daughter of Ann Davis, the actress, who has been playing the summer season with the Vineyard Players at Oak Bluffs, Martha's Vineyard. Picture scouts have dubbed the youngster as a promising ingenue for Hollywood. She made her debut in "The Dark Tower." Here, however, is a remarkable sidelight on the Davis family. Mother Davis and her daughter Betsy have no monopoly on the family talent. This corner has just learned that "John Lloyd," the unknown author whose play "To the End" will usher in Jed Harris' new theatrical season in Feasily the 29-year-old son of Ann, and brother of Betsy Davis. As far as is known, he is the youngest playwright to assume importance in the Broadway scheme in many moons. In so many years in fact, that one naturally recalls the debut of the precocious young man we featured at the start of the column—the man who wrote three hits before he was 25.

And who comes to the Plymouth Theater a few weeks hence as star of the most human play ever written by another pretty good author, Eugene O'Neill.

Joseph Vogel in Boston

Joseph R. Vogel, completing a tour of inspection of the Loew Theaters throughout the United States, was a visitor in Boston yesterday.

Mr. Vogel, one of the executives of the Loew organization in New York, expressed himself as optimistic and enthusiastic about the coming year.

"Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer is planning many of its banner years in film releases," Mr. Vogel said. "Never before have the prospects and material been so encouraging, and there is tremendous activity in the west coast studios."

While in Boston Mr. Vogel conferred with H. M. Addison, division manager; Lawrence H. Brennan, Victor J. Morris and Joseph A. Di Pesa of the Loew Theaters in Boston.

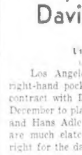
MAURICE CHEVALIER SELECTS "THE RED CAT" FOR HIS NEXT MUSICAL FILM

Greta Garbo Will Remain in Hollywood; Boy Sought for David Copperfield Role

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
Universal Service Motion Picture Editor

Los Angeles, Aug. 31—Reposing in Maurice Chevalier's right-hand pocket when he leaves Hollywood today will be a contract with Darryl Zanuck. Chevalier returns from Paris in December to play the lead in "The Red Cat," by Rudolph Lothar and Hans Adler. Both Maurice and his manager, Mr. Ruppa, are much elated over this musical comedy, which seems just right for the dashing Frenchman.

Let me tell you briefly the background of "Red Cat" to be produced by Twentieth Century.



Louella O. Parsons

It's in its sixth month in Vienna, and is scheduled to open on the Broadway stage. Its the only play outside of one he will do for Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer that appealed to Chevalier out of all the dozens of stories handed him. One of the numbers particularly intrigued his fancy.

Hot off the griddle comes the rumor that Greta Garbo's "I tank I go home" will change its tune to "I tank I become Walter Wanger star." Greta signed with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to make two pictures when she returned from Sweden and according to a most reliable source Queen Christina" and "The Painted Veil" complete her schedule. She likes Walter Wanger and unless there is a great change in plans the Swedish star will leave the M-G-M lot and let Wanger run her destiny. Certainly "Queen Christina" could have had no part in her decision to join Wanger's organization.

Curious the way Vina Delmar's modern frothy friction is immediately nabbed by Hollywood producers. I don't believe she has a single story left and that's a record for a writer as prolific as she. Her latest magazine yarns, "The Day Never Came" not yet in print was bought today by the Fox Company. Its to bean Erich Pommer special with plenty of trimmings and an all-star cast. Schulberg-Feldman handled the deal.

A mad, last-minute rush is on to get a child to play the boy David Copperfield. Freddie Bartholomew, little English boy who was signed by David Selznick and George Cukor while they were in England, is unable to fulfill his contract. Freddie's parents are separated and when the mother got ready to bring him to America, Mr. Bartholomew appealed to the English courts to restrain her from taking the child out of England. According to the English law no child can leave the country to accept employment in another country, so naturally the father was upheld. Cameramen are in San Francisco taking tests for boys for the role and in the last two days over 200 Los Angeles boys were photographed.

Circus Life in Screen Hit

An interesting double feature program opened yesterday at the Fine Arts, with Anna Sten in "Trapeze," one of the best products of the German studios, sharing honors with the all-English "Rome Express."

Somewhat reminiscent of the same producer's great film, "Variety," E. A. Dupont has turned out in "Trapeze" a finely drawn and sympathetic tale of life under the big tent of a traveling circus. It has proved one of the lovely Miss Sten's most successful films, and her remarkable performance in it is another of the reasons why Samuel Goldwyn elected to spend a million dollars to prepare the beautiful Austrian for Hollywood stardom.

"Rome Express" has Esther Ralston and Conrad Veidt in a British film that was one of the earliest of the exciting transcontinental dramas, with all the action occuring on the fast express between Paris and Rome. Action and suspense are well maintained throughout the thrilling story.

Film on Hitler Tomorrow

The much heralded Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., film, "Hitler's Reign of Terror," comes at Tremont Temple tomorrow.

With photographs made in Germany and Austria during the early days of the Hitler regime, the new film has been assembled by Vanderbilt during several months' sojourn in central Europe. Many of the films were smuggled across the borders and secured at great risk by the photographers. Edwin C. Hill, noted news commentator and reported supplies the interesting and illuminating discourse which accompanies the film.

Harold Lloyd Excels in New Film on Two Screens

By JOYCE DANA

Saying farewell to custard pie comedy for the first time and forever, a chastened Harold Lloyd returns to the screen at the Paramount and Fenway in "The Cat's Paw."

There is first of all a grand story to work on, and with the Lloyd goggles and gags still very much in evidence they're 100 per cent more effective and funnier with a substantial framework back of them.

The Clarence Budington Kelland story is hilariously entertaining to begin with. Ezekiel Cobb, having spent most of his 27 years in the interior of China with his missionary father, comes back to the town of his birth to select a wife. The mildest conditions of the Orient, the gentle and shrewd philosophy of the great Ling Po, a sense of honesty and an utter lack of worldliness are Ezekiel's. He's completely bewildered by our slang, trusting to the point of imbecility, appalled by our independent young women, and taken in completely by a gang of cut-throat politicians, who in an emergency nominate him for mayor of Stockport because he can't possibly win.

But Ezekiel, between dreamy Eastern epigrams and tea-drinking, wins both the mayoralty and the interest of the hitherto cynical Miss Peronia Parker, who presides at the City Hall cigar counter. How he eases out the crooks, deals with blackmailer fires the police chief, vetoes the grafting contracts and final calls upon his Chinese-American friends to come to his rescue when gangsters and a girl try to frame him, had yesterday's audience rocking with laughter. There was even delighted applause at Ezekiel's most successful coups.

It's by far the best film entertainment Mr. Lloyd has given us. For the first time the comedian, not the clown. There are fewer props, and more personality, and "The Cat's Paw" promises new and far more brilliant fields for the comedian to conquer.

An excellent supporting cast headed by Una Merkel as the little gal with a wise head and heart, and George Barbier, Pendleton, Alan Dinehart, Grace Mitchell and Grace Bradley handle their important roles in fine fashion.

On the same program at the theaters is "Purchase," featuring Rosemary Ames, Victor Pert Kelton and Russell Hardie in a strong love drama set in Dutch East Indies.

Vaudeville at Keith-Boston

Announcement has been made that beginning next Friday September 7, the Keith-Boston theater will return to vaudeville.

Inaugurating the return to variety, the Boston will feature on the opening program New England's popular band leader and vocalist, Ranny Weeks as conductor of the new Boston orchestra.

Stage settings have already been ordered with new and elaborate lighting effects and scenery already in the process of installation.

The showing of first run feature pictures will continue to be the policy at the Keith house

YOUTH DROWNS IN CASCO BAY

Portland, Aug. 31.—Peter Thomas, 17, son of [illegible] prom[illegible] Portland [illegible] was drowned [illegible] when [illegible] capsized off Harpswell [illegible]

Two companions, Philip Sanborn, 17, son of Dr. George Sanborn of Boston, Robert Brewer of Hingham, were rescued after clinging to the capsized sloop in a choppy sea.

They held up young Thomas until their own strength was exhausted, but he drowned shortly before the three were rescued by Walter [illegible] Ribble and Earl Wallace of Harpswell in a motorboat.

Short Cranberry Crop Foils Strike

Carver, Aug. 31.—Because of higher wages and a shortage in crop, cranberry bog owners today declared that they expected no trouble among the pickers despite the fact that strike organizers are busy among the ranks of the workers.

Unlike last year when riots and strikes interfered with the harvesting of the berries, the season opened here without a disturbance among the pickers. The extreme heat during the summer months is the cause of the shortage in the crop and owners declare that a quick harvest is expected.

Names for X-9 Puppy Due

Boys and girls of the Secret Agent X-9 Club who have not yet sent in their choices of names for the [illegible] Eskimo puppy had better hurry.

This [illegible] Soon the contest will be closed!

Are you one of the members that wish to enter the contest but have not sent in your suggestion?

If so, send in your three selections of names best suited for the pet. Perhaps you will be the lucky winner.

The pup is now on exhibition at Norumbega Park. When sending in your selections do not forget to include your name and address and the number of your membership card.

Send your names to Secret Agent Puppy, Boston Evening American, 5 Winthrop Square, Boston, Mass.

Find that lost article! Advertise your loss in the Want Ad columns of the Boston Evening American and Sunday Advertiser.

Gloucester, Aug. 31.—Much to the dismay of an eager audience [illegible] of the alleged [illegible] case was continued indefinitely here today.

Leighton Calkins and Eben E. Comins, both socially prominent in the colony, posted cash bonds of $200 each for appearance a week from today. The continuance was asked by their attorneys, Chandler Davis for Calkins and former U. S. Attorney Frederick H. Tarr, for Comins.

Both were charged with wearing too little, if any, clothes in secluded parts of the beach along Gloucester's society section.

'MEN ARE ROTTEN,' CRIES MARY McCORMICK---BUT SHE'LL MARRY

New York, Aug 31—Recovery [illegible] Mary McCormick, [illegible] Texas songster, who declared today that [illegible] hate [illegible] Arts [illegible] next [illegible]

[illegible] "all men" as "rotten." From now on it is an operatic career, with marriage out in the cold.

She answered an inquiry as to how she felt as follows:

"I'm half dead.

I'm just one big incision, and I've always hated draughts. I will recover from this like anything else."

SETTLEMENT IDEAL.

"Take for instance Prince Serge Mdivani," suggested the reporter.

"My marriage to him was more painful than a major operation, an ordeal I'm successfully over. I say 'successfully' because I hold the distinction of being the only woman who divorced a prince and yet exacted a financial settlement from him."

MARY McCORMIC

Mention of that settlement involved Grace Williams, a free lance writer, in bloody combat with the operatic star, but this time she frankly discussed it.

"When I divorced the prince I was determined to teach him a lesson and learn one myself, so I forced Mdivani to pay me a sum in settlement in the neighborhood of $30,000. I may have been a sucker when I married him, but I graduated with honors!"

"Was he attractive?" she was asked.

"Oh, yes," she replied, "before our marriage he had a wonderful way. It didn't last."

Asked about the face-slapping episode that came as a sequel to her divorce, when Grace Williams sought to dispose of the secrets of the agreement to a newspaper, the starring song bird said:

"MEN ALL ROTTEN"

"She who got slapped got her just reward. Her million dollar suit has come to nothing. If she believes she chased me out of California, then tell her for me that I am returning there this winter. She can meet me at the border—if she dares."

Invited to talk about men and marriage, Miss McCormic had plenty to say.

"Men are all rotten, all that I have met. They all have the same system."

"Are you embittered against marriage?" the reporter inquired.

"No, I'm human. I will marry again when a suitable man turns up. He will have to be an American and 100 per cent.

"The trouble with American men is they are either playboys or too seriously inclined. There is no happy medium.

"Yes, I would give up my career for a happy marriage. As much as I love my work, I rate marriage higher."

Extolling her own sex, she said:

"The woman who ventures out with a man today asks for so little, just a good time at a moderate cost. In return, the man demands everything. It is not fair. The woman is far superior in every way!"

SECRETLY WEDS BRIDE OF 63

Secretly married in New Hampshire last Thursday, William A. Jaques, 76, of South Peabody, returned home today with his 63-year-old bride, who was Mrs. Mary Cowan, a neighbor.

The marriage is the third for both. Each lost their former mates by death.

At Jaques' home, 135 Lynn street, South Peabody, his new wife smilingly admitted their marriage today but refused to disclose the details. "Somewhere in New Hampshire," she said. They have been honeymooning in New Hampshire since.

Jaques is very active despite his age, and is employed in a South Peabody plant.

Waltham Calls Safe-Breakers

There will be a safe-breaking job done in Waltham shortly and the police have no intentions of interfering.

It seems that the Waltham ERA headquarters recently had a locked safe presented to it, but unfortunately without any information regarding the combination.

All efforts by amateur safe-breakers have proved fruitless, so it looks like a call for expert cracksmen in the near future.

Mercy Killer Is Guarded by Nurses in Hospital

Concord, N. H., Aug 31—Special—Nurses today stood a 24-hour watch over Mrs. Lois M. Cotter, "mercy" slayer of her crippled daughter, to guard her against new attempts to take her own life.

Constantly repeating that she wished to die, Mrs. Cotter was in such a deep state of melancholy that Deputy Police Chief Victor I. Moore decided to postpone questioning her at the Margaret Pillsbury Hospital.

Doctors have forbidden Mrs. Cotter to discuss the case with any one at present, and not even the thousands of messages of sympathy arriving daily from all over New England, are brought to her attention.

Charges in connection with the death of her hopelessly crippled little girl, Marjorie Ann [illegible], last Sunday will be brought against the young mother as soon as she is able to leave the hospital, County Solicitor Willoughby A. Colby stated.

Countless requests that the woman be allowed to go free will be denied, he indicated.

An offer by Concord clubwomen to finance the defense was temporarily refused by Mrs. Horace E. Cone, of Hall street, mother of Mrs. Cotter.

Fight Lasted 18 Months

The sad tale of a year-and-a-half fight between man and wife was disclosed when John Di [illegible], 25, of Ocean avenue, Salem, appeared in Salem court to appeal a three months sentence for assaulting his wife.

Mrs. Carrie L. Di [illegible] told the court:

"We've been fighting every day. My husband liked to hit me."

Di [illegible] testified that his wife started the arguments and once threw a dishful of peppers and a stick of wood at him.

Roxbury Man Held in Auto Death

Samuel A. Hill, of Walnut avenue, Roxbury, is being held by police of the Dudley street station on a technical charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of five-year-old Alan Peters, of Cottage street, Roxbury. The child died at City Hospital an hour after he was struck by a car operated by Hill on Cottage street. Hill rushed the child to the hospital.

PICKET FLEET WARS ON ILLEGAL RUM

This Is Life by ROBERT E. ROGERS

Theodore Dreiser, at the age of 63, intends to live as long as he finds life interesting. If he ever gets bored, he declares, he will get out of it all. Although suicide would be a perfectly logical ending for him, disappointed Epicurean that he is yet one feels that he will not suicide.

Robert E. Rogers

[illegible] reflective literature, extending now over 35 years, shows that he has always found life in its many aspects highly interesting, not to say exciting, and with his habitual views one can be certain that he is going to find it even more interesting in the future.

For instance, he plans to finish at last that monumental trilogy that began with "The Financier" and the panic of '73 and continued with "The Titan," two periods in the life of one Copperwood, supposed to be a portrait of Charles T. Yerkes, the financial manipulator and traction magnate. He ceased working on the man's story nearly a quarter of a century ago. Now he intends to finish it. Although Dreiser never was a symbolist or a generalizer, never pretending to any cosmic significance in his stories of an individual's character and accidents of life, yet it will be hard to write the third instalment about an American magnate of the old, predatory school without showing something of what has happened to that type of man since the days when T. R. began calling them malefactors of great wealth.

Copperwood could hardly last into these present days when the big business man finds his world topsy turvy about his ears, unless he be shown as a very old, old man reviewing his past, useless for any greater activity than joining the Liberty League and hoarding his gold defiantly to the end. But no matter at what date in the past 40 years Dreiser places him there ought to be enough historical excitement in his story to stave off the dread day for his author.

The future, too, is full of interest. A pacifist, he yet desires one more war. He says that he is tired of seeing Russia kicked around by Japan and hopes that Russia will get up courage enough to manhandle Nippon a bit and teach it a lesson. Which goes to show, among other things, that your good pacifist always makes an exception for Russia. Russian wars are rightly wars to make the world safe for Communism. And Dreiser is a convinced and avowed Communist who has suffered for the cause, has even been "scandalized" for it, to use a locution of his suffering Kentuckians.

I called him "a disappointed Epicurean" a few paragraphs back. I think that is just. One might call him also a pathetic sentimentalist, if one wished, but the former phrase covers the ground better. I do not believe he is a realist, for that involves greater powers and a more all-around view of life than he has ever possessed. Nor a tragic poet, since that involves possession of ethical values which he has never exhibited.

In literature he always remains the youngster he exhibits himself in his two published volumes of autobiography covering his first quarter of a century. A homely, gawky "underprivileged" youth forever coveting the beauty, good fortune, lasting love, money, luxury, and gayety which the world seemed to deny him. He stood outside the door peeking in at more fortunate youths and forever hankering—that is the only word—for everything more fortunate youths enjoyed. He worked hard and rather unskillfully at rather drab and tedious jobs which seemed to have no future.

He seems to believe that the world owes him not only a living but also beauty, love, pleasure and luxury. He grows to admire with a kind of hatred such powerful personalities as can wring these from society. He comes to see no relationship between material and morality. So he comes to believe in life as so much un-moral biochemistry; in other words, an Epicurean whose world is an accidental collocation of atoms, for whom there is no final morality, no hereafter, and no God. And of late years he sees himself in all the less fortunate of society and tries to become their mouthpiece. He who has no religion has found one in the communist dogma—with the usual results of such conversion.

His insistence on the ultra importance of man's sexual wants and greed, his yearning search for the superficial thrills of love instead of the durable satisfactions of marriage, make him a "sentimentalist"—in Meredith's own phrase—forever fiddling harmonics on the strings of sensuality. He is a very considerable figure, powerful in conceptions and executions, clumsy as a craftsman, faithful to his dulled conception of a dull and meaningless world which he judges in terms of the Never-never-land of his sensual and sentimental dreams.

I doubt if he could be really happy even in a Communist state.

Three Injured When Autos Meet in Head-on Collision

Hardly bearing resemblance to an automobile, this car was one of two that met in a head-on collision in the Lawrence Highway, North Reading, severely injuring three persons. The car, shown being towed away from the scene of the accident, was driven by John M. Churchill of Philadelphia and Wareham who suffered multiple cuts in the crash. Mrs. Churchill, riding with her husband, suffered a fractured ankle. So great was the impact that the whole front of the Churchill car was folded up into a shapeless mass of twisted steel. Somewhere I have seen a statement credited to Ed Howe that "a good scare usually does a man more good than sound advice." That's right in a way and shows a discernment that comes only with tough years. It is a circuitous way of saying experience is the best teacher. Yet most of us prefer sound advice and always seek it. However it is difficult to find among men under 60. In a severe [illegible] gave me the 70-year older The Younger Generations Old Fogey.

Many of the de-luxe hotels have special arrangements with former wealthy clients somewhat a boon for both these troubled times. With so many suites vacant, old patrons may rent them for special occasions, [illegible] at quarter rates [illegible] them at half tariff for week ends in town. This gives a hotel the impression of being busy and depression victims a patina of old-time pomp.

New York has completely abandoned the no-name high hat. It was once a symbol of hoity-toity to be known only by a number. Fifth avenue was especially packed with this aloofness. Twenty years ago there was not a sign on the thoroughfare from Madison Square to the Plaza fountain. The last of the hold-outs were Altman's and Cartier's. The Ritz Carlton from its opening until recently, was signless. The signs today are inconspicuous, but signs nevertheless.

Borrah Minnevitch's harmonica players are the most highly paid in the world. No one in the raggedy regiment receives less than $100 a week and a few get $200. The idea for the gutter urchin orchestra was given to Minnevitch by Dr. Hugo Reisenfeld over a midnight cup of coffee at Lindy's. Minnevitch scoured the East Side sidewalks for recruits but found the ripest talent along the Brooklyn waterfront. Each youth [illegible] two are negroes [illegible] what he calls a "natural," that is a passionate lover of the harmonica. So much so, indeed, that off duty they go off in pairs to wah-wah in lunch stands all night coffee pots and hamburger hatches. Just for the fun of it.

And with the sidewalk cafes—they've reached Harlem now—sprouting everywhere, the strolling musician has a paradise in contrast to usual skimpy pickings. He fringes the tables playing his saxophone, violin or accordion and in such proximity few can resist passing out a coin. Of course, the troubadors know their psychology and usually play some tender love melody to a moon-eyed looking couple. This will often flush out a dollar bill.

There is one forlorn minstrel haunting 5th avenue who claims to have led orchestras for Fritzi Scheff and symphonies at Carnegie many years ago. In a tam now he and seven con he plays [illegible] like a figure out of a gypsy novel. He is reported to make more than he did in the good old days. A nice idea, that.

EVERETT LIQUOR BOARD ILLEGAL

Attorney General Joseph E. Warner has ruled that Mayor James A. Roche of Everett [illegible] the Everett Licensing Commission [illegible] office recently, because [illegible] members of the commission [illegible] the mayor were [illegible] by the board of aldermen.

When the appointments were made by Mayor Roche [illegible] mayor of Everett [illegible] confirmation was not necessary under the law.

Just what action will be taken by Mayor Roche is not known at this time but it [illegible] believed that a majority of the present members will be submitted to the aldermen for confirmation at an early date.

Present members of the commission are Walter E. Hill, William H. Geraty and former mayor Lester D. Chisholm.

Candidate Quits ERA in Medford

Alderman James J. Higgins of Medford has resigned from the ERA because he is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for representative.

Under the ruling that ERA workers may not become candidates for political offices in the forthcoming election, Higgins had to either quit the race [illegible] representative or [illegible] from the ERA. He had already filed his papers.

Rats in Peabody Aid Sniper Scare

Police Chief Edward F. Pierce, of Peabody, was almost positive that a detail of his men would return with the sniper who has shot at three persons and wounded two in the past few weeks, when a woman phoned that shots were being fired in her neighborhood. The detail returned only to inform Chief Pierce that the excitement was caused by boys shooting rats [illegible] dump.

Arrest of Six May Solve 7 Holdup Mysteries

The mystery of seven armed holdups in Greater Boston, during the [illegible] was believed solved today with the arrest of five North End men and a Somerville man.

The North End men all held on suspicion of armed robbery will be placed in the line-up at police headquarters today. The victims have been asked to appear to identify them.

GO TO SOMERVILLE

The arrests occurred when North End police were following a clue that a stolen car had been sighted near the scene of a holdup in Endicott street Saturday night when Sarkis Gorgian was robbed of $10.

Acting on information received they went to Somerville police headquarters and took Rocco Pa[illegible], 17, of Broadway street, Somerville, already arrested for larceny of an automobile, into custody. Following a conversation with Pa[illegible] they returned to the North End and discovered two 25-calibre pistols in a Commercial street restaurant.

USED SAME TACTICS

A general round-up of five other men resulted immediately.

According to police the men are believed to have employed the same tactics in all holdups. Two of the men are said to have acted as the gunmen while the others waited in an automobile, with the engine running.

Besides the holdup of Gorgian, the men are said to have been responsible for robberies in Chelsea, Revere, Somerville, Charlestown, Abington and Woburn.

Pa[illegible] will face charges by the Boston police following his arraignment in district court, Somerville today.

LEONARD FLAYED BY SILVERMAN

Charging that the finance commission was resorting to unfair campaign tactics, former corporation counsel Samuel Silverman said that the lost papers in the General Equipment Corporation case had been found just where they should have been.

In replying to Chairman Joseph J. Leonard of the finance commission, Silverman said:

"The latest outburst by Mr. Leonard contains as many errors and misstatements as did his first effort.

"I wonder upon whose suggestion Mr. Leonard has embarked upon this campaign against the Curley administration three weeks before the primaries.

"No, Mr. Leonard, I'm not pulling the wool over the eyes of the people of Boston, and I don't intend to let you do it, either."

Twins Pop Up in Belmont

While the whole country was informed that an Ohio couple had two consecutive sets of twins, right here in Belmont there are two couples who have come forward to challenge the record.

Patrolman William J. Morrow of Wiley road is the proud father of two sets of twins, Robert and Eleanor, seven, and Jean and Joan three.

And Mr. and Mrs. Edward O'Brien of Winn street, Belmont claim a similar distinction with William and Elizabeth eight, and Eileen and Edward, four.

Man Loses Fingers in Elevator Wheel

Two fingers of his right hand were amputated by doctors at Haymarket Relief Hospital after John W. Orcutt, of Free street, Hingham, was extricated from an elevator in a building on Atlantic avenue. Police and firemen rescued Orcutt after his hand became caught between the cable and the wheel of a freight elevator in the building.

HAMILTON CASH FOR CHARITY

Provision for a trust fund of $10,000 for the Methodist Historical Society of Boston was made in the will of Bishop John W. Hamilton, former resident Bishop of the Massachusetts diocese, it was disclosed today.

Bishop Hamilton, formerly dean of the board of bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church and oldest trustee of Boston University died at the Massachusetts General Hospital, July 24, in his [illegible] year.

By his will sufficient money was accumulated under perpetual trusts so that five relatives and educational institutions will eventually receive a modest donation from his estate.

Held in Dole Case

Robert M[illegible], 28, of Vale street, South Boston, is under arrest today charged with the larceny of $43 from the public welfare department. The arrest of McLa[illegible] makes the 23rd in connection with the police investigation of alleged fraud among city aid recipients.

Codfish Wears Rubber Girdle

New England codfish have gone in for reducing garments.

This discovery was made when the crew of the Boston schooner Marjorie Parker netted a [illegible]-pound codfish with a broad rubber band firmly imbedded in its flesh, back of the dorsal fin.

At some undetermined time the fish evidently swam into a strip of rubber cut from an automobile inner tube. The catch was made on the South Channel fishing grounds south of the Cape.

MORE DIVORCES PRESAGE BOOM

A rapidly mounting tide of divorce suits filed at the Essex County registry of probate may indicate a return of prosperity.

According to court officials August, with 66 suits registered, makes the largest number ever filed for that month, and brings back memories of the boom days before the stock market crash made divorce suits a luxury.

Observers at the court said that in the past divorce suits have increased with prosperity and decreased with depressions.

After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

They take it when they are nervous and rundown, before and after child-birth and at middle life. Then pass it on to their daughters and they recommend it to their neighbors.

"I have five children and a large home to attend to, because I don't believe in having help. I was nervous and rundown, and suffered so with my back. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me wonderfully. I do all my work now for others and have no backache."—Mrs. C. W. Arnd, 1 Allegheny Ave., Pittsburgh, Penna.

"After my baby was born I was weak, tired and nervous. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and my health improved. I feel well and strong now, I have got back my appetite."—Mrs. O. Nelson, Lawrenceburg, Ky.

"I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Tablets enough for the way they have helped me. I always suffered a great deal every month. I felt tired and sick all the time. In the past I was nervous, and didn't want to stay in bed a day, even when I felt like it. Now I am free of it all most three months and my pains are gone. Nature and these tablets did it."—Mrs. Wm. H. Grah, 2001 E. Lacy Street, Shamokin, Pa.

PINKHAM MEDICINES ARE SOLD AT ALL DRUG STORES

Many women find a more convenient way to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Tablets. Sweetened and chocolate coated, they are packed in purse size boxes. Take them for a few days before your period or when pain and discomfort. Take them regularly all the month and you should suffer less and less, because they are upon the cause of your trouble and help to prevent future discomforts. Small size 50c.

SEES GAIN IN BUYING

By Associated Press

... Aug. 31—Productive ... & Bradstreet ...

After its maintenance at an unexpectedly high level since June, asserted the survey, "the consumer buying impetus gained rapidly in the closing week in August.

"As consumer buying turned pronouncedly stronger as the month drew to a close, many retailers had the best week of the summer, and sales rose as much as 1 per cent above the level of the week preceding and were 8 to 12 per cent larger than in the comparative period of 1933.

In contrast to the encouraging progress being made in the distribution of merchandise, the rate of industrial activity continues to lag and in many instances is becoming more dependent on federal or state expenditures.

Even though the number of orders placed in some of the apparel divisions was somewhat under that of the week preceding the volume of whole business was larger than a year ago and in most of the large markets buyers were more numerous than during that period."

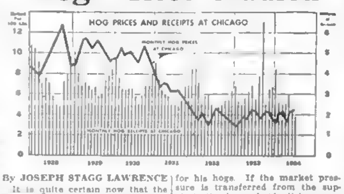
Hog Prices Studied



By JOSEPH STAGG LAWRENCE

It is quite certain now that the drought will have a serious effect both upon the supply and the price of hogs during the coming year. Long before the drought commenced its ravages, the AAA purchased and slaughtered approximately ... pigs in an effort ... The effect of this ... supplies would permit ... which the ... depends to a large extent upon the corn crop and corn prices.

A smaller number of pigs for the time being would simply have meant the breeding of more sows and the feeding of hogs to greater weight. However, this reduction was followed immediately by a spell of unprecedented dry weather which has made serious inroads upon the supply of corn.

Roughly speaking, and taking ... the estimated corn ... of this year as we, as the ... from last year, American farmers will have two bushels of corn to feed where they had ... last year. This will increase the price received by the farmer for his hogs. If the market pressure is transferred from the supply to the demand side, it increases the probability that the processing tax now amounting to $2.25 a hundred pounds will be passed on to the consumer.

This matter of tax incidence has been the subject of considerable controversy and ill feeling between the farmers and the AAA on the one hand, and the packers on the other. The latter have ... with considerable logic that the processing tax, instead of being paid by the consumer is actually paid by the producers, since the value of hogs drops by an amount approximately equal to the tax. Although the demonstration of this proposition is difficult, the packers have been able to present considerable evidence in its favor.

The leaner hogs are a boon, because the lean cuts are in demand in the domestic market whereas the fat in the form of bacon and lard has found outlet largely abroad in the past. Since this outlet at the present time is suffering from adverse tariffs and reduced foreign buying power, it is perhaps just as well to have this kind of pork product diminish.

Live News of Today's Market Leaders

Recent dull markets have been marked by a tendency on the part of many to buy for the box. Though the big operators would appear to be on the sidelines brokers report that many of their customers have purchased outright stocks like New York Central, International Nickel and N... accepting transfer and ... and placing the securities in their safe deposit boxes.

This has been going on for some time according to quite a few houses and the belief has grown that a single important incident of broad economic meaning could readily awaken a demand that might be difficult to satisfy.

Schacht Remarks Are Bearish

Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, Germany's prolific market letterwriter extended his bearish remarks yesterday at Bad Elsen using different words to produce the same effect. His complete moratorium has however, been extended to several years.

Sees Room for Bond Improvement

Advising the individual who buys only the highest grade bonds to await the clearing up of uncertainties regarding the dollar's future, the Federal budget, the definition of how far recovery and relief program expenditures will go in 1935, a broker has told the "seeker after income" who is willing to accept a reasonable risk, that he still has many opportunities.

The broker declares that such person need not go outside the boundaries of active, listed and seasoned obligations of well-managed companies which in normal times have demonstrated ability to make profits and meet their obligations.

He remarks that such bonds are not invulnerable to general market movements, "especially in these days of recurring national nervousness," but they have room for improvement that will come when general business takes heart.

Liquidation in Gold Stocks Seen

Carefully handled liquidation in the gold stocks is reported by brokers usually informed of important speculative sentiment toward the group.

Bank Clearings Give Good Omen

The weekly compilation of bank clearings by Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., offers food for thought. The aggregate clearings of the country show a decrease for the week of $5,682,000 or about 7 per cent, from the corresponding 1933 figure.

Of 22 cities reporting only two show decreases from a year ago, namely New York and Boston. Excluding New York where the decline amounted to 16.6 per cent, the gains in the other 21 cities were sufficient to offset the decline in Boston and leave a net percentage gain of 15.4 per cent.

Cincinnati gained 60 per cent. Seattle was 39 per cent higher and Kansas City showed an increase of 44 per cent.

Regardless of the uncertain movement of the stock market these figures would seem to indicate that business is good—at least in some places. The dullness in the stock market itself accounts for a good deal of the decline in New York.

Liquor Collections Have Improved

According to a broker's letter, liquor company collections against receivables have improved with several collections against enjoying a really important center—seasonal gain in sales.

REPORT URGES EARLY SALE OF RICHFIELD

Los Angeles, Aug. 31—William C. McDuffie, receiver for Richfield Oil Company of California and Pan American Petroleum Corporation, in his eighth report, urged the early reorganization or sale of the properties under receivership.

The Richfield receivership proper, including the United Oil Company, a California corporation, is shown as having incurred an operating loss of $321,792 for the second quarter of this year, as against an operating profit of $481,803 in the first three months of this year.

The operating profit of $160,011 for the first half of the year compares with $668,463 for the first half of last year. The loss in the June quarter, the report said, was due to the fact that high prices were being maintained for crude oil while gasoline was being sold far below cost, based on the market price of crude.

McDuffie, in his report, states, in part, "the situation again emphasizes the point which the receiver has constantly called to attention, namely, that any reorganization, to be on a sound basis, must contemplate sufficient new money to acquire an adequate supply of company-owned production." The report pointed out the disadvantageous position of the company in not having the opportunity of showing an offsetting profit on a large company-owned production.

"While at the present time crude and products are selling in a more proper balance, due to the operations of the Pacific Coast Petroleum Agency since June 25, last, the report said, "there is always danger of the local markets being broken down by the shipping in of foreign gasoline.

"The receiver is still of the same opinion that the properties of Richfield and Pan American should be sold at an early date, for he is convinced that only through a sale or reorganization can the best return be made for the creditors and bondholders of the company."

Engineers Public Income Is Lower

Engineers Public Service Co. and constituent companies report for 12 months ended July 31, 1934, net income of $844,941 after taxes, interest, depreciation, amortization and dividends of constituent companies, equal to $1.9? a share on combined ... shares of $5 cumulative preferred ... share of $5.50 cumulative preferred and ... shares of $6 cumulative preferred stock of Engineers Public Service Co. ...

This compares with net income in 12 months ended July 31, 1933, of $2,846,22? ... after preferred dividends, to 27 cents a share on 1,909,796 no-par shares of common stock.

Gatineau Power Revenue Given

Gatineau Power Company and subsidiary companies report that for the second quarter of 1934 consolidated operating revenue and other income was $2,389,094 compared with $2,389,806 in the second quarter of 1933.

Net revenue before interest, depreciation, etc in the second quarter of 1934 was $2,120,467 against $2,014,040 in the corresponding quarter of 1933. The 1934 and 1933 figures are after loss on exchange of $2,079 and $127,026, respectively. In the second quarter of 1934 balance added to surplus was $641,845 compared with $525,037 in the second quarter of 1933.

Hundred Million Is Distributed by Standard Oil

Cash dividend payments by the companies of the Standard Oil group for the first nine months of 1934 are estimated at $101,527,18?, compared with $86,480,455 in the corresponding period of 1933, an increase of $15,056,732 or approximately 18 per cent, according to figures compiled by Carl H. Pforzheimer & Co.

Aggregate disbursements of the group in the third quarter of 1934 will total $18,582,065, which although the smallest quarterly total for some time, does not indicate adverse dividend actions, but merely reflects the change in dividend policy by several of the larger companies, whereby distributions ... made semi-annually in ... and fourth quarters instead of quarterly as heretofore.

Among the companies now on a semi-annual dividend basis are the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, Imperial Oil, Ltd., International Petroleum Co. Ltd., Standard Oil Export Corp. and several of the pipe line companies.

Total distributions in the preceding quarter amounted to $38,608,141. Inasmuch as the only unfavorable dividend action taken this quarter was the omission of the quarterly dividend by the Standard Oil Company of Nebraska, one of the smaller units, the large decline in total payments in the current quarter when compared with the second quarter is wholly accounted for by the absence of distributions by those companies on a semi-annual basis and by the fact that last quarter Imperial Oil and International Petroleum paid ... holders ... of ... and ... respectively in addition to the semi-annual dividends.

A ... total distributions in the current quarter will be slightly lower than the $19,546,576 paid out by the group in the corresponding quarter of 1933 ... comparison is not indicated since at this time last year Imperial and International were still on a quarterly dividend basis and distributed approximately $7,300,000.

On the contrary, several companies have resumed dividend payments and others have increased their rates since the third quarter of last year.

Stock Market Time Table

10-11 prices worked lower in dull first hour dealings. Downturn led by steels. Rails easy. Metals showed resistance. Sales were 110,000 shares.

11-12—Extreme dullness carried into the second hour. Prices were practically unchanged from previous levels. Transactions were 190,000 sales.

WARBURG BOOK DISCUSSES 'NEW DEAL'

By B. C. FORBES

Mark Twain once remarked that people did an awful lot of talking about the weather but that he had noticed they never did anything about it.

B. C. Forbes

In this country the New Deal and all its ramifications have overshadowed every other subject of conversation, particularly throughout the business and industrial worlds but so far they have done very little about it.

What can you or I do about it?

An answer, written by an ex-member of Roosevelt's inner council who ... ideas and brain trusters gained the ascendancy, is ... to appear in the form of a book, "It's Up To Us." The author will tell specifically just how each of us should proceed to make his or her influence felt in the shaping of governmental policies.

The writer is James P. Warburg, 38-year-old ... of a historic family of bankers whose brains, progressiveness ... attracted ... President Roosevelt ... has been invited to Washington as adviser on monetary and other financial problems. He became a powerful influence for a time while.

Then others of no practical experience—Warburg was, and is, head of one of New York's larger banks got President Roosevelt's ear, their amateur theories won out, and Warburg quit.

When Mr. Warburg confided to friends early this year that he was going to publish a book, "The Money Muddle," criticising the brain trust's theories and experiments, they pleaded with him

"Don't do it, Jimmy. You're young. Almost your whole business career is before you. Politics and business don't mix and you'll ruin yourself as a business man by mixing in political disputations."

"What happens to me as an individual is unimportant," returned Mr. Warburg, quietly—and he meant it. "But what happens to the American people and to business is important. It may be, as you say, that business and politics don't mix, but it is high time business men were taking more than a lip interest in what politicians do to the American people and to business.

"Business, long ago, should have begun taking an active interest in national affairs and, long before then, should have begun taking the people into its confidence instead of being so mysterious about itself—leaving the public to guess as it pleased and telling it nothing, or practically nothing. With the facts before it, the public can be depended upon to act intelligently.

"It's up to business men to be equally as intelligent and to furnish the facts."

The book was published—and proved a best seller.

In this new book, I am told Mr. Warburg propounds a lengthy series of questions citizens should ask themselves—and answer.

He gives his own answers, his own specific suggestions, on such vital matters as agriculture, industry, money and banking, taxes, foreign trade.

MARKET LOWER AS SELLING INCREASES

New York, Aug. 31. The stock market worked lower again today for the fifth successive session, as further pressure was exerted against the rail and other sections of the list notably the dairy shares.

In the dairy shares, a sudden flurry put National Dairy and Bordens down nearly a point each although there was no news to account for the selling.

RAILS EASY

In the rail group, Atchison and New York Central continued to be offered freely and suffered losses running to almost a point. Southern Railway, Lackawanna and Southern Pacific also were soft.

United States Steel and other industrial and steel shares were quiet but lower.

Utilities continued to mark time in light trading. Further weakness in the grain market where losses ran to more than half a cent a bushel had an unsettling influence on the mail order shares, including Montgomery Ward and Sears Roebuck.

Chrysler was heavy in the motors group, receding another fraction. Oils, chemicals and specialties were quiet, moving in unison with the rest of the market.

DEBTS WORRY

Aside from strike worries the financial community found unwelcome news in the statement of Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, German minister of economics that Germany would need a complete debt moratorium for years and a reduction in its foreign debt.

Continued weakness in the British pound was accompanied by a further rise in the open market price for gold in London. Gold was quoted at 140 shillings 11½ pence against 140s 3d yesterday.

Despite some export of gold from New York in the past week weekly Federal Reserve statement disclosed a further rise of $55,000,000 in member bank reserve balances to a record peak of $4,127,000,000. Excess reserves were estimated to have reached an unprecedented total of about $2[illegible] 000,000.

Direct loans to industry amounted $524,000 to a total of $1,167,[illegible] A drop of $2,000,000 in monetary gold was the first decline in the country's gold supply since the gold bullion standard was adopted last January 31. A decline of $17,000,000 in brokers' loans, the eighth consecutive week of decrease, reduced the total to $779,000,000, the lowest since Jan. 24.

Dun & Bradstreet's weekly trade review reported consumer demand for goods gained momentum in the final week of August and pointed [illegible] looking forward to Labor Day as a pivot for in[illegible] production.

NEWARK BONDS ACCEPTED

Thirteen financial institutions in New York city and New Jersey, now holding City of Newark temporary tax notes have agreed to exchange a substantial part of their holdings of such notes for $6,000,000 of City of Newark 4¼ per cent serial funding bonds, issued under Chapter 60 of the 1934 Pamphlet Laws dated July 1 1934 and maturing $500,000 per annum 1935 to 1946, inclusive.

The city is authorized to sell such bonds at a discount, and the price at which the exchange will be made will be governed by the basis at which the city sells publicly on September 6 $6,225,000 of improvement issues.

Institutions which have agreed to accept the new serial funding bonds have agreed not to offer them for resale in the open market for a period of at least 90 days after the date of public sale of the improvement issues. The agreement of the banks to exchange their tax notes now held is contingent upon the successful sale by the city of the $6,225,000 of improvement bonds on September 6.

Trust Stock Is Exempt From Tax

Cecil E. Fraser, treasurer of Incorporated Investors advises Massachusetts stockholders that the Trust has received a ruling from the Massachusetts tax authorities to the effect that both the cash and stock dividends paid by Incorporated Investors during 1933 are exempt from the Massachusetts income tax.

This ruling reverses a previous ruling that the cash and stock dividends were subject to the 6 per cent state income tax.

Claude Neon Net Profit $203,688

Claude Neon Electrical Products Corp Ltd of Delaware reports for six months ended June 30 1934 net profit of $203,688 after depreciation provision for losses, amortization of rental sign costs and federal taxes, equivalent after dividend requirements on 7 per cent stock (retired aMrch 31) to 76 cents a share on capital.

This compares with $159,607 or 58 cents a common share in first half of 1933.

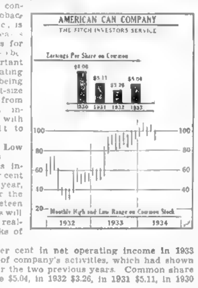
Brokers' Loans Down $17,000,000

Loans on stocks and bonds to brokers and dealers by reporting Federal Reserve member banks in New York City decreased $17,000,000 during the week ended Aug. 29 to $793,000,000.

Greater Demand Aid to American Can

Analysis Prepared by the Fitch Investors' Service

F[illegible] of aggregate fruit and vegetable pack this year than last still hold good despite inroads made on growing crops by the widespread drouth. In addition, demand for general line tin containers for paints, tobacco, food products, etc., is [illegible] over 1933. New uses for tin containers are also being found, one important instance being lubricating oil, which is now being marketed in quart-size containers. Demand from this source should increase substantially, with consequent benefit to company's earnings.



Operations Aided by Low Cost Inventories

In 1933 inventories increased about 110 per cent over the previous year, and 73 per cent over the peak of 1929. Nineteen thirty-four operations will reflect the savings realized on present stocks of low-cost materials.

Increase of 40 per cent in net operating income in 1933 reflected the upturn of company's activities, which had shown a downward trend for the two previous years. Common share earnings in 1933 were $5.04, in 1932 $3.26, in 1931 $5.11, in 1930 $8.08 and 1929 $8.02.

DOES 45% OF COUNTRY'S TOTAL VOLUME IN CANS

Company is the largest factor in the canning industry doing about 45 per cent of the business. It also manufactures and leases machinery used in canning. Over 50 factories are operated at strategic points, from coast to coast, throughout the nation, which facilitates the packing of products. Factories are also located in Canada and Hawaii.

Slightly over half of company's products is taken by the food trade, the balance being used by the paint, varnish, oil, chemical, tobacco and drug industries.

NO FUNDED DEBT

Capitalization, free of funded debt, consists of 412,333 shares of preferred stock, 7 per cent cumulative (par $100), and 2,473,998 shares of common (par $25).

Financial condition as of December 31, 1933, was good. Current assets of about $58,000,000 covered current liabilities 3.6 times. Cash was 50 per cent of current liabilities.

Pacific Business Steady

In spite of the existence of strike conditions in the vital shipping industry for over half the month, Pacific Coast business activity during July held stable near the level which has prevailed since the first of the year.

The Index of Western Business published by Wells Fargo Bank & Union Trust Co., San Francisco, stood at 70.3 per cent of the 1923-25 average level as against 70.4 per cent in June. With industrial production and department store sales remaining virtually unchanged. A substantial decrease in bank debits was balanced by a corresponding increase in freight carloadings.

July sales of automobiles in California increased moderately over those of June to the highest monthly total since July, 1931. Life insurance sales continue to show substantial increases while electric power production, stimulated by irrigation pumping demands, show marked increases over last year and may for the entire year approximate the record totals reached in 1930.

YOU'RE QUITE WELCOME

There is some basis for the assumption that America will become a nation of interior decorators. Statistics show that already the life-form hands are wasting hours. Thousands of sons of stalwart mechanics now go in for pink, pale and lifeless effects all over their hair. Anthropologists will tell you that these are all symptoms leading us toward the abyss, at the bottom of which are millions, yes thousands of interior decorators and bank dippers. Therefore we take pleasure in printing the above helpful chart for home decorators—clipped, we might say—in fact we will say—from "The Home Beautifier," a volume published only fifty-three years ago. How time flies!

Charity Game at Tepee Lacks Jim Curley's Masterful Promotion

Perry Refuses $50,000 A Bouquet for Ouimet Jimmy Dykes Tells One

By AUSTEN LAKE

PERHAPS IT IS BECAUSE MAYOR FRED MANSFIELD lacks the tub-thumping, ballyhooey and political shotgun instincts of his predecessor in office. At least there has been little or no "steam-up" over the Braves-Red Sox charity game today. And, unless I mistake, the effect is going to be apparent at the gate.

Austen Lake

Where Curley's multiple-committees clicked and chugged with the precision of well-oiled machinery, this time a great fog of mystery surrounds the Braves Field program

Curley, whether you are for or against his political method, gleaned upwards of $35,000 each year for his welfare fund from those games. Most of this was due to his Prussian drill-master style in commanding the appearance of his city department heads in the council chamber, where he would stand, stabbing his corkscrew finger and, in his parson's voice, alot from 2000 to 6000 tickets to each executive, willynilly

It was a grand show to see these gentlemen, a little flabbergasted at the size of their block of tickets, swallowing hard and screwing up a pleasant pucker to say, "Yes sir, Mr. Mayor." The tickets were literally shot down their throats, and they turned around and shot them down the gullets of their understrappers. But it put the game over.

And in the several weeks preceding the contest, Curley's best municipal brains pumped up novelties, teasers and reams of press information

The old political lion-tamer willed it, and the City Hall boys stifled their whimpers and leaped through the hoop. The papers were full of it, and political word of mouth did the rest

Hence an overflow crowd with bales of lovely charity dollars But this time . . . tsk! tsk!

PROFESSIONAL ATHLETES ARE DECLASSE folk in Britain. By the stern tradition of that class-sensitive country, paid sportsmen are forelock snatchers and "Please" and "Thank-you" characters

So, it is not surprising that Fred Perry, England's No. 1 male tennis player, bases his refusal of American promoter Bill O'Brien's offer of $50,000 to join the Tilden circus on a fear of being socially ostracized. That, in England, amounts to terror.

Only man in sports history who broke down the British scorn for pro sportsmen was Walter Hagen, who out-snooted the snootiest, required that he be addressed as Mr. and be accorded every amateur courtesy

And in the end he became a favorite golfing partner of the Prince of Wales and the playfellow of the peerage. He, of all our sport representatives, had the greatest facility of manner, being more royal than the king or more hail fellow than Babe Ruth.

YET THE MOST POPULAR AMATEUR golfer of all time is our own Francis Ouimet, who at 40 is reliving the scene of his greatest triumph next week at Brookline, naively called THE Country Club, no more no less. There, 21 years ago as a youth, slender as soda straw, with adolescent peach fuzz on his cheeks, he spanked Britain's hoary professionals, Vardon and Ray.

That incident is one of the high spots in the American sport saga

Ouimet's greatest genius is not golf. It is for making and holding friends. He has an uncanny memory for names and faces

I recall how, in last year's Charity Roundup at the Garden he was detailed to a putting booth, where anyone with 50 cents could try a round of baby golf in his company

Invariably Ouimet would greet each new customer by name, saying, "Hello Harry (or John or Bill)," asking about the family and busines affairs.

AVERY BRUNDAGE, PRESIDENT OF THE U. S. Amateur Athletic Union, is abroad at the moment with full power to accept or reject Germany's Olympic invitation. He was detailed to investigate that country's attitude toward Jewish athletes.

Yet it is not hard to foresee how he will report on this subject, because in a recent issue of the A. A. U. publication, he called on the youth of this country to prepare, body and soul, to give its best in the 1936 Berlin meet.

JIMMY DYKES, MANAGER OF THE WHITE SOX and old teammate of Mickey Cochrane, was telling about Schoolboy Rowe just stymied from his 17th straight victory and a new American League pitching record.

"He was leading us, 12 to 0," related Jimmy, "And, standing on second base, he suddenly lit out and stole third, coming into me in a cloud of dust with legs and arms asprawl. 'Well,' I said, as he dusted off. 'Ain't you the smarty! Here you are leading 12 to no, and you risk breaking a leg and doin' all your mates out of that world series dough.' And do you know what he said? He says, 'It's just my Cossack blood.'"

DURING THE STRIKE OF THE DEAN BROTHERS, Dizzy and Paul, fans of the country mailed the elder Dean more than $1000 in consolation money, coming in dribs and small bills. Dizzy mailed it back . . . When Connie Mack sold Mickey Cochrane to Detroit last winter, he offered Frank Navin, "Lefty" Grove, saying "I don't want to split the battery." Navin refused . . . Frank Frisch, Cardinals' manager, is sitting on the anxious seat. His contract has not been renewed for next year, and owner Sam Breadon hints that nothing will be done until the close of the season . . . "Chuck" Klein, ex-Philly slugger has been offered to the Giants by the Cubs, who are desperate on his account to total Detroit last winter, he offered Frank Navin. "Lefty" Grove, saying "I don't want to split the battery." Navin refused . . . Frank Frisch, Cardinals' manager, is sitting on the anxious seat. His contract has not been renewed for next year, and owner Sam Breadon hints that nothing will be done until the close of the season . . . "Chuck" Klein, ex-Philly slugger has been offered to the Giants by the Cubs, who are desperate on his account to total . . . Oddly the most effective pitcher on the pirate roster is Waite Hoyt, the veteran whom various major league clubs have been throwing up for grabs during late years. Such is the power of sobriety and Waite's conscientious ride on the water wagon . . . Walter Okeson, commissioner on college football officials, is making sure that his charges study the rules thoroughly before the season starts this year. Ice has sent out a ten-page, close-typed resume of the rules, full of omissions and intentional errors, and requires each man to make a full report on all oversights and errors. This is, at least, a six-hour job requiring hefty concentration. In past years it was usual for the older officials to review the rule book hastily while dressing for the first game.

to increase our advantage, and the best way I know to do it is to nominate Ed Brandt, Flint Rhem and Ben Cantwell for mound duty.

There's nothing of the ballyhoo about either declaration. McKechnie and Harris want to see a capacity crowd, but if there weren't a dozen in the stands, what they say would still go. Each wants to win And how Moreover, if neither was particularly keen on victory, it would still be a knock 'em down and drag 'em out battle. For the Sox players are convinced that the Tribesmen are so many trumps who would finish in the cellar in the American League, while what the Wigwamers think of the Fenwayites as ball players isn't fit to print in this family journal.

And all the pilots in the world couldn't prevent either group from trying to make the other look as horrid as possible the safest wagering proposition here this afternoon.

WILSON NAMES NELLIE FLAG BEST BET

The Calumet Farm's colorbearer stamped herself a first class juvenile in the Old Colony by finishing two and one-half lengths in back of Time Flight.

In the Prudence Nellie Flag will be opposed by only four members of her own sex, none of which has ever shown to advantage in stakes or against high class juveniles. E. Arcaro, the lad who piloted Hadagal to his stake victories, is slated to have the mount in the daughter of American Flag.

FIRST RACE

Unknown Soldier, Dozana, Cardamon

UNKNOWN SOLDIER needs only an intelligent ride in order to handle this band. The son of Man O' War displayed a high turn of speed in better company last out. DOZANA was beaten only a half length by Alaric and Mad Bull last out. Off that effort she shapes up as strictly the one to drub. CARDAMON has raced well enough to be accorded a fighting chance.

SECOND RACE

Decorate, St. Omer, Sonnelli

DECORATE scratched out Wednesday with this spot in view. The Bunting colt has only to run back to his second to Traffic Judge in order to be returned the winner. ST. OMER shapes up as the more formidable of the contenders on the strength of a fair New York record. SONNELLI has been burning up the track in his morning trials and may share in the spoils.

THIRD RACE

Suspicious, Leham, Meeting Place

SUSPICIOUS is the speed of this party. With only ordinary opposition he, may hang on long enough to cop the verdict. LEBAM is from the J. D. Mikel stable and has been away from the races for quite a spell. However, it is likely that he is in good shape. MEETING PLACE has worked well enough to be granted some chance.

FOURTH RACE

Bright Chance, Canteret, Rose Hazen

If BRIGHT CHANCE is ever going to win a set of brackets, it should occur in this race. The daughter of Chance Play has been knocking on the door in most of her starts over this course and will likely come up a short price in the wagering. CANTERET has been picking 'em over his head in recent starts and has had scant chance to show his true worth. Mayhap the son of Canteret will do some fancy running. ROSE HAZEN is from the W. T. Anderson stable, that outfit has put over several good things at this meeting. According to the clocking, she can really run.

FIFTH RACE

Chancing, Mama's Choice, Knight of Old

CHANCING has a decided edge in class over his opponents in this affair. The R. L. Gerry owned thoroughbred performed creditably against high class horse in New York. According to the clocking brigade, he shipped over here in great shape. MAMAS CHOICE looks next best on the strength of her victory about a week ago. She should finish the top one with plenty of opposition, providing she runs back to that effort. KNIGHT OF OLD drubbed only ordinary ones in his last race but with little or nothing left, the Graymont colorbearer should have little trouble in saving the short end.

SIXTH RACE

Nellie Flag, Mock Turtle, Happy Helen

NELLIE FLAG will have MOCK TURTLE to drub here. The latter defeated a high class field of fillies at Saratoga before coming over here. According to her past performances, she has a high turn of early foot and may make the lead. HAPPY HELEN has won her last three in convincing style, but she will be stepping up a long ways against the top pair. However, she should have little trouble in holding the others safe.

SEVENTH RACE

Pennywise, Fablus, Friar Mark

PENNYWISE could handle this sort with a hustling ride. Last out the Bucellna colt was beaten only half a length by Mild. FABIUS has been running to the hickory in his starts over this course and looks next best. FRIAR MARK has also been racing well and must be accorded some sort of a chance.

Sloan Most Colorful, Sande Most Popular

By Clem McCarthy

The most colorful of all jockeys . . . was Tod Sloan.

The most popular with the most racing fans . . . was Earl Sande.

The most determined . . . never-quit-driving . . . finisher . . . was Fred Taral.

The tallest jockey I ever saw make 110 pounds . . . was Bobby Costello.

The tiniest jockey I ever saw on a horse's back . . . in a race . . . was Willie Dorsey, weight 45 pounds, back in 1898. Winnie O'Connor tells me he weighed that for his first few mounts, about 1895.

The best Judge of pace of all jockeys . . . was Isaac Murphy, star of the '80s.

Colorful jockeys . . . but eccentric . . . were Patsy Duffy . . . Andy McCarthy . . . Grover Cleveland Fuller . . . and Frankie Jordan. They rode between 1883 and 1905.

As steady a jockey to bet on . . . day in and day out . . . over a long stretch of years . . . as a horse player could ask for . . . was Charlie Thorpe, a crack of the '90s.

One of the "best-overest" jockeys I ever saw was Skeets Martin.

The biggest laugh ever furnished by a jockey . . . was the product of Skeets Garner's zeal to win. Judge Joseph A. Murphy put Skeets on the ground for persistent rough riding . . . and believing the young man incorrigible on the subject . . . promised to keep him on the ground till Alaska turned tropical.

After ten years . . . I think it was . . . Judge Murphy relented enough to have a talk with Skeets, and the jockey promised he never bump nor cut off nor carry out another horse as long as he could make riding pay. That was a little meeting over at Mobile, Alabama, half-mile track in the spring of 1922.

So next day Skeets had him a mount in the very first race . . . it was up on old Ballynew . . . a 6 to 1 with the bookies . . . going the short five furlongs. One of those two-lap tracks. The start, of course, was at the head of the stretch. The crowd . . . especially the horsemen and regular racegoers from the North . . . gave Skeets a big hand as the post parade.

The starter kept 'em at the barrier about five minutes. Skeets and Ballynew had outside position . . . and as the rotund little jockey sat there on perfectly behaved old Bally . . . alert to be away in front . . . he knew that Judge Murphy . . . in the official stand right down the track ahead of him . . . had glasses and eyes only for him.

Suddenly the starter caught them all on their toes . . . the barrier sprung . . . Ballynew was a step ahead of the leaders—old Skeets hadn't lost his knack of "leaving them" flat.

But . . . right under the eyes of the man who had kept him on the ground almost ten years . . . came "bang' . . . Skeets takes Ballynew right across to the rails . . . and piles every other horse on the fence 50 yards before he passes Judge Murphy!

There was no disqualification, because old Ballynew tired after a half mile and dropped out of contention. . . . Skeets Garner again felt the heavy hand of Judge Murphy . . . went back to exercising Skeets . . . and still . . . weighs more than 200 pounds . . . although he isn't five feet tall.

COLLEGIANS SET FOR PROS

Chicago, Aug. 31 (AP)—College football will attempt to take a fall out of the professional game's hide tonight.

—The Chicago Bears—tonight at Soldiers' Field for the edification of 80,000 or more spectators.

The collegians, or rather, excollegians, since they were senior members of 1933 college elevens, [illegible] in there with plenty to gain and little to lose. The champions of the National League in 1932 and 1933, must win handily or be responsible for a shock to the professional game's prestige.

Coach Noble Kizer of Purdue and his assistant, Jimmy Crowley of Fordham, Dick Hanley of Northwestern, and Matty Bell of Purdue's line coach, have worked hard with a prime pick of last year's collegiate teaching the Notre Dame system.

Juniors Clash in Final

Chicago, Aug. 31 (INS)—Tied with one victory apiece, the Cumberland, Md., and New Orleans baseball clubs meet today at Comiskey Park in the final game to decide the American League "Junior World Series."

New Orleans opened the series with a 6 to 4 victory that was nullified in the second game yesterday when Cumberland came up with a 5 to 4 decision. Pitching for the Maryland team a 4 to 3 win in 13 innings.

GIBBONS TAKES OVER BAKER BROADCAST OVER WBZ

Floyd Replacing Phil on Air Tonight

By N. F. T.

No studio spooks will haunt the 9:30 to 10 o'clock half hour (WBZ) tonight. Phantom stooge "Beetle" belonging to the popular Phil Baker cast would wind up out of luck trying to frighten Floyd Gibbons, known to be unafraid "Headline Hunter" and rapid fire radio reporter. Floyd fills the Phil Baker time while the latter vacations.

What's more, Gibbons gets into the spirit of the thing by bringing guest artists with him. Thus and so the first is none other than Morton Downey, high tenoring "mike" star.

Floyd Gibbons

Not long ago a CBS performer was strictly a Columbia chain personality and an exclusive NBC networker was likewise just that. With Stoopnagle and Budd moving over into the Radio City setting for NBC on Sunday evening next and Downey also drifting from the Columbia camp, it begins to look as though the loudspeaker radio folk are free lancing for fair. Next we may be hearing Kate Smith through WEEI or even Rudy Vallee through WNAC, who can tell? Sponsors stepping up as the big money bidders seem to have altered the air artists viewpoint no little.

That weekly "Court of Human Relations" presentation tonight (WNAC) features a drama called "For Just One Moment of Folly," which story takes thirty minutes to unfold, meaning from 8.30 until 9 o'clock.

When the hour that stars Jessica Dragonette holds forth (WEEI) this evening as of 8 to 9, the melodious "My Hero" selection from the operetta "Chocolate Soldier" comes through as the initial solo by Miss Dragonette.

Two piano teamwork by the Jaysnoff Sisters is an attraction worth while (WBZ) during tonight's Cleon B. White offering of his NBC artists revue, come 10 p. m. . . . By jingo that "Terry O'Toole" voice launched Wednesday evening (WAAB) across WAAB waves, sounds Very (make that a capital V there Mr. typesetter) much like whatsizname Avad, the young Irish chap who warbled for quite awhile behind WEEI and WBZ microphones . . . No more of the "Fresh Air Taxicab" business for "Amos 'n' Andy" on their return on Sept 17 . . . They aim to enter a new business, but what it will be cannot be divulged yet for the simple reason that "the boys" haven't decided themselves . . . Hearing the classic "Trees" of Joyce Kilmer played by Walter Smith on his cornet (WNAC) this evening at 7:20, can hardly fail to find favor . . . Burns and Allen are back from their European jaunt. Gracie wanted to hustle over and give Mayor La Guardia of New York a key to the city, but George made her realize His Honor already has one . . . Kate Smith, the singer, recently wagered two simoleons on a "hot tip" horse named Kate. Said filly failed to come over the mountain in the money and the stout songbird of the South has sworn off betting on bronchos forever.

Dionne Babies Gain in Weight

Callander, Ont., Aug. 31—Marie Dione, smallest of the famed quintuplets, came back in sensational style and added one whole ounce.

Her four sisters likewise gained, dividing an increase of 2½ ounces among them. Emilie, the second smallest, showed the way with 1¼ ounces.

You Hear Him on the Radio

GEORGE PRICE

George Price . . . The imitated imitator . . . Who now has given up imitating . . . Because people remember the subject . . . Instead of the guy doing all the work . . . And so what the what the.

Twenty-seven years has Georgie been an entertainer . . . Starting when he was only five . . . And now he's entertaining on borrowed time . . . Borrowed by himself . . . Because he said . . . In 1930 . . . That he would quit when he was 30 years old . . . But he is now 32 . . . And still at it.

New York's East Side was Georgie's birthplace . . . And he was five when he wandered into a private hall . . . Where a wedding was going on . . . With a real East Side jollification . . . And he began to stuff his shirt . . . Until the orchestra played a number with which he was familiar . . . And he got up and sang . . . And they took up a collection for him . . . Deciding Georgie forthwith to take up entertaining.

He went busking . . . Wandering into saloons and such . . . And singing . . . And one day he was taken to a party . . . Where guests included Gus Edwards . . . Weber and Fields . . . Lilian Russell . . . And others . . . And Edwards was so taken with the lad's powers that he engaged him for the famous "School Days."

So Georgie started up the ladder . . . At five . . . Becoming the support of his family . . . And starring first at 11 . . . In the "Kid Kabaret" . . . Where Eddie Cantor . . . Eddie Buzzell . . . Lila Lee . . . Georgie Jessel and others . . . Got their start.

Since then Georgie has gone far . . . In all avenues of entertainment . . . And few of the side streets.

The Price of Peace

A PLEA: There must be no more wars for us.

ORANGE, Massachusetts, has just unveiled a most impressive memorial to its war dead. A masterpiece of the sculptor's art, it depicts an American soldier, in overseas cap, who has laid aside his weapons to tell a younger generation of the horrors of war. He demands a pledge that never again shall this nation be plunged into another orgy of legalised murder such as the World War.

Pacifists—blind to the true facts, as is usual with them—are enthusiastic about the monument. For once, they declare, a town has erected a pacifist war memorial—a monument that is a sermon in stone for disarmament.

How far from the truth their conclusions are!

It is true that the Orange monument is an eloquent plea for peace. But it does not insult the dead it commemorates by advocating something they would oppose. It is no plea for disarmament in an arming world.

No one knows better the folly of such a course than the veteran who is here depicted in stone. He stands for peace. And he knows that there is only one guarantee for peace: An ...idance of entangling foreign alliances that might force ... ...wars, and adequate national defences that will discourage ...ght of attacking us.

"Hands off, young man!" shouts Uncle Sam:
"Don't monkey with these ships!
Our merchant fleet, if left to you,
Would make no further trips!
It's plain that your amazing plan
Would do our shipping harm.

Don't try to let that anchor down,
And get back to the farm!
We want to see our farmers helped—
That's what your job is for;
The farmers' crops oft call for ships
'Gainst which we must not 'war'!"

Human Side of the News; King Is Dismissed

By Edwin C. Hill

Tiny Andorra, which lies high up among the peaks and passes of the Pyrenees, on the border line of France and Spain, has dismissed its amusing monarch, Boris I, Prince of Andorra, "Count of Orange and Duke of Skenayreff."

A Dutchman of colorful career, a kind of European Mayor of New York's entertaining Prince Mike Romanoff, Boris headed the little musical comedy principality just at the time when six thousand people were sore at both their overlords, the French Republic and the Spanish Bishop of Urgel.

Coming to Andorra with a pert American woman, his wit and shrewdness so impressed the simple Andorrans that they actually permitted him to set up himself as prince of the domain with a string of titles a yard long.

He was all for declaring war against the Spanish Bishop, and even made faces at the august French Republic, but his activities were too strenuous for the Andorrans and eventually, recently, they expelled him, told him to go away and return no more.

AMERICAN FOR KING

They could have had an American for king, those Andorrans, and $100,000 to boot, if they had cared to accept an offer made by one Leopold Parillo of Chicago.

Parillo actually offered $100,000 for the honor, but the Syndics thrned him down with a gesture of boredom and nothing more was heard from Mr. Parillo. Still and all, Americans do turn up as kings in far places. I once knew one who was king of a Fiji Island through one of the most romantic twists of fate you ever heard of.

I was in a sailor's bar one night, years ago, on the old Barbary Coast in San Francisco. Swaggering into the place came a whacking big man, broad-shouldered and with a flaming red beard fanning across his chest. He had the bluest eyes I think I ever saw.

He shouldered up to the bar and downed a bottle of champagne at a draught, ordered drinks for the house and tossed a double eagle on the counter. All quite with the royal manner, for a king he was sure enough, back in San Francisco, aboard his trading schooner after an absence of ten years. And presently, over something tall and cool, he told me his amazing story.

SPURNS PRINCESS

His name was Edwa... ...son, and he came ori... Albion, Illinois. Out h... a slim, bashful young ... had courted a belle of t... but she found another fel... liked better and gave hi... mitten. So he swore off women, taking it bitter... and headed for the South Seas to make his fortune.

He drifted through the emerald seas and came finally to the Island of Naikeva in the Fiji group. Right there little Lakanita Cunid got the drop on this woman-hater and shot him through and through.

The Princess Lakanita, daughter of the native king and a Spanish half-breed wife, fell head over heels in love with the tall, red-haired, blue-eyed American. But he was still off women, still sore from the jilting he got back in Illinois.

So he drifted on, but before he went he made a pledge to the love-sick princess. He gave her his solemn word that if her life was ever in danger he would return to stand by her side, no matter where he happened to be.

Then he faded out into the purple horizon, while Lakanita, with tear-dimmed eyes, watched his sails vanish over the rim of her world. Months later as Ed Thompson of Albion, Illinois, lounged in pajamas on the deck of a trading schooner, a canoe ranged alongside. A native pad... dled up and called for the white man with the blue eyes.

Young Thompson looked over the rail and recognized one of the six-foot retainers of the king and the princess. A rebellion had broken out in Naikeva.

Lakanita and her father, with a handful of loyal spearsmen, were holding off the rebels, but pretty nearly at the end of their string. So she had sent a messenger to implore her blue-eyed white man to remember his pledge.

SO THEY WERE WED

That night Ed Thompson headed the little schooner toward Naikeva. He had made his landfall in the nick of time.

He went into the fight with a running jump and a rifle, and when he got through there wasn't any more rebellion, and most of the rebels had ceased to take any interest in Naikeva politics.

But the old king had been killed, and Ed Thompson himself had been speared through the side.

He lay for months, suffering from his wound and with typical fever, and Lakanita nursed him tenderly. [illegible] 1934, by [illegible] America

Listen, World! -:- By Elsie Robinson

"DESERT WIFE"

Red butte. Black shadow, hard and thick as lacquered jet. High cloud, flame-white against the blazing blue.

Beneath—the endless quiver of the sun-lashed sand.

Silence so taut it made the ear-drums ache.

Distance so vast it broke the mind's small grip.

Across [illegible] sand, a [illegible] ...rupt husband back into the Arizona desert, and for four years worked with him at an isolated trading post in a Navajo reservation. During that time she lived a life of almost unbelievable hardship and loneliness, hardly ever seeing a white face.

This is a record of those days—set down as starkly as one would set down a time sheet. Not once does she go literary. Nor Holly-

It any way. She just goes and does it. And never guesses that in the doing of it she has done more to restore the faith and fury, the pride and beauty of the old American spirit than regiments of soldiers or platoons of preachers.

CAN'T BE DONE

Review a book like that coolly? Analyze its technique? It can't be done. It is a human document, a story of a husband and a wife.

He loved her. But how did she ever know it? For there were days, stretching weeks, when he did not speak. Times when she [illegible] her hand in a sudden cause you, too, are an American!

But the greatest story, and one which only a woman can understand, lies not in the lines themselves, but between them—the story of a husband and a wife.

He loved her. But how did she ever know it? For there were days, stretching weeks, when he did not speak. Times when
